PROVERB PROBLEM No. 19 ON SECOND PAGE OF TODAY'S ISSUE.

CLARKE BALKS AT "AMERICAN"

Englishman Says United States Has No Real Right to Term.

HE SUGGESTS USONA

Sir Edward Also Laments the Outlay of Money for the Yankee Warships.

CHOATE MAKES AMPLE REPLY

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The annual Thanksgiving banquet of the American society at the Hotel Cecil tonight was marked by the presentation to Ambassador Choate of a portrait of himself painted by Hubert Herkomer, and paid for by subscriptions by members of the society. An unusual note for such a gathering was introduced by Sir Edward Clarke, who, proposing Mr. Choate's health, sarcastically derided the title "American" ambassador, declaring the word American implied domination over the whole of the western hemisphere which the United States does not possess and is not entitled to, as Great Britain is territorially a larger power on the American continent than the United States. Sir Edward suggested a more suitable title would be Usona, signifying United States of North America.

Having in the first public criticism here of the state department's order that embassies hereafter shall be called American, thus uttered a respectful protest against the assumption of the larger name, Sir Edward Clarke proceeded to refer to the miserable underpayment of American judges and "America's waste of energies in providing for survivors of the civil war,' and in building ironclads which she could never use.

Ambassador Choate, replying, said Americans were quite satisfied with their name and then referred to the recent election in the United States as a splendid tribute of devotion and affection to a great man. Having remarked upon the regeneration of public life in America, regardless of party, now in progress, Mr. Choate alluded to the ever-growing friendship between Great Britain and America as a reason for thanksgiving, and added:

"I asked Lord Lansdowne if he were ready to negotiate a treaty of arbitration. 'Why,' said Lord Lansdowne, 'it goes without saying.'"

Continuing, Mr. Choate maintained that many things go without saying between Great Britain and America above all that they should avoid all possible causes of offense and settle all differences by peaceful means.

He paid a high tribute to the archbishop of Canterbury's "rediscovery of America," and dilated upon the value of visits to America by such men as the archbishop and John Morley.

The archbishop of Canterbury, proposing President's Roosevelt's health, expressed his sincere thanks for the great hospitality with which he was received in America. He said America faced problems greater than the world had ever seen, but by a stroke of genius had found the man to conquer the difficulties. "We on this side," said the archbishop, "not less than brothers to you across the Atlantic, thank God and take courage because the destinies of America are safe in Roosevelt's hands."

Ambassador Choate's speech at the banquet of the American society is commented upon by the London morning newspapers in terms of the strongest approval, and it is taken for granted that the arbitration treaty to which he made allusion will be concluded and ratified promptly by the United States senate.

The Daily Telegraph remarks that the great affection and esteem in which Mr. Choate is held in England is largely apart from his personal qualities and because of the affection in which he was held by the late Queen Victoria.

The Glasgow Herald expresses the hope that the delay in concluding the treaty of arbitration is due to the fact that, instead of merely adopting the stock arbitration arrangement, an effort is being made to resuscitate the Olney-Pauncefote treaty, readapted to modern requirements.

FORGOT DIGNITY OF THE PULPIT

Congregation Broke Out in Cheers When Reference Was Made to President.

A VICTORY FOR CAPABILITY

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.

Applause that lasted for several minutes and necessitated the Rev. Dr. Robert S. MacArthur coming to a lengthy stop in the middle of his Thanksgiving sermon, marked the day's exercises at the Calvary Baptist church in West Fifty-ninth street. The big congregation was not content with handclapping alone, but broke out in cheers which rang through the church rooms.

Dr. MacArthur does not openly discountenance the proclivity of applauding on the part of his congregation, but today it was so prolonged and vociferous he held up his hand in deprecation and signified he desired the people to cease. The outbreak followed a reference made by the speaker regarding the last presidential campaign, in which he said:

"There also is a cause for thanksgiving that the recent campaign of pretense and cant has ended in a victory for sincerity, patriotism and capability. It was a campaign begun in hypocrisy and ended in slander. It was marked equally by imbecility and by moral obloquy. We did not ask for the universe, but we nearly got it."

The final statement quoted pleased the audience to such an extent that they forgot for the moment the dignity usually accorded a pulpit speaker. Dr. MacArthur tried to continue speaking, but was unable to proceed until his audience had vented its enthusiasm.

CRANK FROM JOHNSTOWN CALLED AT WHITE HOUSE

Wanted to Interest the President in a Machine to End the Coal Strikes.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—A German, who gave his name as John D. Loppentein, called at the White House yesterday afternoon and asked to see the president. He said he had invented a machine that runs by gravity and will do about anything. It would easily move the White House, he said, and it would also settle coal strikes. He wanted to interest the president in the machine.

Secret Service Agent Tyree led the man away and after talking with him, escorted him to the police station to be examined for his sanity. Loppentein said he was from Orange, Cal., but that he came here from Johnstown, Pa., where his wife and her relatives reside. This morning he was examined by the sanitary officers who decided that they had no reason to detain him. He was placed on board of a train and started for New York.

SHOOTING TAKES PLACE ON CROWDED BROADWAY

Victim, a Sporting Man, Refuses to Incriminate the Man Arrested.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Guy Roche, a sporting man, who killed "Sheeny" George Levy nine years ago, was shot and probably fatally wounded late this afternoon in Broadway. Stewart Felton, known as "Big Frank," also a sporting man, was arrested charged with having fired the shot.

Although told he would die, Roche refused to say Felton shot him, and declared if he lived he would settle his account himself.

The shooting occurred in the midst of a crowd that filled the sidewalk. Felton dashed through the crowd, followed by hundreds of men and women who shouted for the police. Running to Seventh avenue, Felton entered a saloon and was there arrested. He was taken back to where Roche lay, and an effort was made to have the wounded man identify him.

"Leave it to me; if I die, all right; if I live I will make good," was all Roche would say. He was hurried to a hospital, where it was said his condition is critical.

Two witnesses say they saw Felton fire two shots the instant before Roche fell.

KILLED ON HIS WAY HOME TO SPEND THANKSGIVING

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—An instant after Frank Dolan, a locomotive fireman, swung from his engine in the Pennsylvania yards in Jersey City to hurry home to spend Thanksgiving with his folks, he was crushed to death by a train, the approach of which he did not see.

ENGINES CAUGHT SHIFTING CREW

Borne Down by "Snappers" While Taking Freight on a Siding.

TWO MEN DEAD; TWO HURT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ALTOONA, PA., Nov. 24.—While an engine was shifting a car at McGarveys, on the Pennsylvania railroad, five miles west of Altoona tonight, two light engines used to assist freight trains up the mountain came down and struck them. Two men were killed and two injured.

THE DEAD:

FIREMAN GEORGE CHASE, of Henrietta.
CLERK WILLIAM COXEY of Altoona.

THE INJURED:

ENGINEER JOHN CLARK of Derry; head and body lacerated.

The freight car was part of a westbound train of empties that had been cut out to be sent to the Altoona shops for repairs.

After being shifted on a siding Engineer Clark was returning to his train when the snappers ran him down. Chase, Coxey and Clapper were all riding on Clark's engine. The injured men were brought to the Altoona hospital.

FIVE ITALIANS PERISH IN WAREHOUSE FIRE

Spark from Pipe Causes Explosion Fatal to Sleeping Railroad Laborers.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LANCASTER, PA., Nov. 24.—Five Italians perished in a fire late last night that destroyed the old Noble grain warehouse at North Bend, between Christiana and Atglen. For some time the warehouse has been used by Contractor Sims and a company who are building the Pennsylvania railroad extension through southern Lancaster county. Sixty or more Italian laborers slept on the third floor. One of them was washing a pair of overalls in a pail of gasoline when a spark from his pipe fell into the pail, causing an explosion that scattered the burning oil.

Instantly there was a panic among the Italians, most of whom had been asleep. They fought madly to escape from the burning room. One leaped from a window. He was picked up with a broken leg. It is believed the five who perished were trampled in the rush to get out. Their bodies, badly charred, have been recovered.

It is impossible to learn their names, as the men were known by numbers.

RIFLES FOR ZEIGLER.

Adjutant General of Illinois Sends Military Supplies to Zeigler for Protection of Its Citizens.

CARBONDALE, ILL., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Lieut.-Col. Shaud of the adjutant general's office, in response to the request of Sheriff Stein of Franklin county, reached Zeigler today with 50 krag-jorgensen rifles and 500 rounds of ammunition.

The situation is critical around the colliery, stockade and railroad. The citizens of Zeigler have been kept in a state of constant fear, owing to the desultory firing which has marked the nightly attacks of unknown parties declared by Leiter's officials to be union miners. The mining of coal is practically abandoned.

FIRED ON THE GUARDS.

Natives of Adirondacks Bitterly Resent Methods Adopted by William Rockefeller to Protect His Game Preserve.

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—William Rockefeller of the Standard Oil Company, who owns 53,000 acres of forest land in the Adirondacks, has again aroused the ire of the natives by engaging dozens of guards to patrol his vast preserves in the great north woods.

Several guards have been fired at this week while watching would-be trespassers. As smokeless powder was used in every case, all efforts to locate and capture these "snipers" have proved futile.

NAVAL TRAINING SITE SELECTED

Lake Bluff, Ill., Near Chicago, Will Be the Location of the New Station.

APPROVED BY THE PRESIDENT

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 24.

Lake Bluff, Ill., 30 miles north of Chicago, will be the site of a new naval training station for which congress has appropriated $250,000. A board consisting of Capt. W. H. Reeder, William M. Bradley and H. M. Waite, after having toured the Great Lakes hearing the claims as to the qualifications of a dozen cities and towns, decided that from the standpoint of accessibility, healthfulness and topography, Lake Bluff is the most desirable location. They so reported to President Roosevelt yesterday. He approved the report.

Nothing now remains except for the citizens of Chicago to carry out their intention to transfer free the necessary ground, valued at $175,000, to the navy department, which will proceed to dredge the harbor and erect the buildings necessary for the housing and training of from 2,000 to 3,000 naval recruits.

Secretary Morton has no further announcement to make regarding the navy's policy in this direction. It is probable, however, that steps will soon be taken toward an agreement with Great Britain whereby fairly large training ships may cruise the Great Lakes with the naval recruits from this station.

The Rush-Bagot treaty concluded in 1816, now limits the naval representation of the United States on the Great Lakes to one man-of-war. The old Michigan is that ship.

Great interest was manifested in the matter of selecting a site for the training station. Sandusky, O.; Racine, Wis., and Erie, Pa., were active in the lists.

Erie made a hard fight to have the training station located at that place. Senator Knox was called upon and did what he could, but it has since developed that Lake Bluff had been decided upon before he was called into the case. In fact, the hearings had been held and the sites visited by the commission when he was asked to make an appeal for Erie. Another hearing was held as a courtesy to Senator Knox, but even then the commission had its mind made up to accept the Lake Bluff site. The advocates of the latter site have offered to donate 173 acres of land to the government, but this will not be sufficient. An appropriation of $250,0000 is available to buy a site and at least part of this will have to be used to purchase additional land.

DISMISSAL ENDS IN TRAGEDY.

Railroader Attacking Man Who Caused His Discharge Is Fatally Shot in Defense.

ELKINS, W. VA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—A fatal shooting affray occurred on the station platform at Belington, W. Va., this afternoon when "Big Joe" Welsh was wounded by Charles Cannon, Baltimore & Ohio railroad station agent at that place. Welsh, who had been employed by the Baltimore & Ohio as a brakeman, was dismissed from the railroad a few days ago on complaint made by Cannon. He returned to Belington today and meeting Cannon on the station platform assaulted him.

Welsh is a physical giant and was getting the best of Cannon when the latter pulled a revolver and fired, the ball penetrating Welsh's abdomen and another going through his arm. There is no hope for Welsh's recovery. Cannon gave himself up to the authorities.

ALLEGED EMBEZZLER CAUGHT IN LIVERPOOL

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—James Wallace, charged with the theft of stock certificates valued at nearly $30,000 from Edward M. Breitung, a Marquette (Mich.) banker by whom he was employed as confidential secretary, has been arrested in Liverpool. Nearly $25,000 of the sum alleged to have been stolen from Breitung was recovered. Arrangements are now being made for Wallace's extradition.

RUSSIANS PLAY BRITISH AIR

Baltic Fleet Thus Makes Its Entrance Into the Suez Canal.

WILL TAKE NO COAL

Second Division of the Squadron Has Set Sail from Cape Skagen.

BLACK SEA TARS MUTINIED

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

PORT SAID, Nov. 24.—A division of the Russian second Pacific squadron has arrived here. All precautions have been taken to prevent any untoward incident during the passage of the vessels through the Suez canal.

The division consists of the battleships Sissoi Veliky and Navarin, the cruisers Jemtchug Almaz and Svietlana, the torpedo boat destroyers Bodri, Blestitschy, Bezumprechni, Bystri, Bravi, Bedovi and Buiny, and the transports Gortschakoff, Voronej, Kitai, Tamboff, Kieff, Jupiter, Merkur and Vladimiroff. The division exchanged salutes with the town on entering, and the Russian bands played the British national anthem in honor of the presence of the British guardship Furious. The local Russian representatives visited Rear Admiral Voelkersam's flagship.

All the warships are fitted with wireless telegraph apparatus. The ships are not ordered to coal here, but will take water, fresh provisions and hay for their livestock. The Russian admiral exchanged visits with the commander of the Furious.

Though the larger warships were not ordered to coal here, the torpedo boat destroyers are coaling from transports, and will enter the canal at dawn tomorrow, the rest of the division an hour later.

Admiral Voelkersam indignantly denies that Russian officers or sailors created disturbances at Canea, Island of Crete. He says a few drunken sailors were carried on board, but no one was killed or wounded, and there were no disasters as reported by an English newspaper.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—A telegram from Port Said says:

"There is considerable interest here in the movements of three fast yachts, the Fiorentina, Catarina and Emerald, which have just traversed the canal to Suez."

The Fiorentina is owned by Comte de Vitali of Marseilles; the Catarina belongs to the firm of Camper & Nicholson of Gosport, and the Emerald, a turbine boat, belongs to Sir Christopher Furness. The latter, however, is not on board, and it appears that both the Emerald and Catarina have been chartered by individuals whose names the agents refuse to divulge, at the special request of the charterers.

The Fiorentina flies the French flag, and the Catarina and Emerald fly the British flag. It is suspected the boats have some connection with the Russian admiralty, and that they will precede Vice Admiral Voelkersam's division of the second Pacific squadron to explore the reefs in the gulf of Suez and around Shadwan island.

At the request of the Russian officers, the police regulations have been relaxed sufficiently to allow boats alongside the warships.

CAPE SKAGEN, DENMARK, Nov. 24.—The second division of the Russian second Pacific squadron sailed this morning.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 24.—According to a private telegram from Sebastopol a portion of the men of the Black sea fleet mutinied November 22 under the influence of the revolutionary propaganda. The mutiny, it is added, was quelled by force of arms and several of the mutineers were wounded.

CZAR'S BORDER SCOUTS SLAY 200 CHINAMEN

Victims Were Part of Band of 1,500 Bandits, Commanded by Japanese Officers.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

MUKDEN, Nov. 24.—A band of 1,500 Chinese bandits, with six guns, under Japanese officers, coming from the direction of the Liao river was in conflict with three sotnias of border scouts near the station of Kajuan early on the morning of November 23. The scouts charged without giving the bandits' battery time to come into action. The bandits made feeble resistance and fled in all directions, leaving 200 of their number dead. The Russian loss was trifling.

A Japanese column of two companies attempted to penetrate the Russian eastern flank November 23, but was met by two squadrons of Russian cavalry and driven off with severe loss.

CAPTURED MEAT PROBABLY INTENDED FOR RUSSIANS

CHEFOO, Nov. 24.—The report that the steamer Tungchow, laden with 30,000 tins of meat, was captured by the Japanese yesterday while trying to enter Port Arthur, appears to be correct. The Tungchow was a British vessel, and belonged to Butterfield and Swire of Shanghai. Last Monday, when leaving Shanghai, she was transferred at the last moment to a man believed to be acting for the Russian government.

PRESIDENT ON WAY TO FAIR

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt and Party Start for St. Louis on P. R. R.

BUSY THANKSGIVING

Chief Magistrate and Clerks Hard at Work Until the Desk Was Cleared.

A GALLOP WITH THE FAMILY

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 24.

At midnight the president and Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by Miss Alice Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, Secretary and Mrs. Loeb, Surgeon General Rixey of the navy, and M. C. Latta of the executive office started for St. Louis, over the Pennsylvania railroad in a special train to visit the world's fair.

The president's fame for unexcelled strenuousness will not be one whit lessened by the manner by which he will do the world's fair Saturday. Arriving at the grounds at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, he will be kept constantly on the go until 9:30 at night, with the exception of short intervals for luncheon and dinner, when he will be at liberty to decide what further he cares to see.

The program committee has arranged that he spend more time in the Philippines than in any other exhibit on the grounds. It has been arranged that he will spend an hour and 35 minutes viewing the Igorrotes, Visayans, Bagabos, Moros and Negritoes in their villages and the drill of the constabulary.

Quick Trip Through Pavilions.

He will spend just 20 minutes in the great Liberal Arts building, 10 in the Machinery building, and 40 in the Government building. After reviewing the parade in his honor, he will spend 10 minutes in the French pavilion, 10 in the German, five in the Mexican, 10 in the British, five in the Holland, two in Sweden and Austrian, 10 in Belgium and five in the Japanese, Cuban and Chinese pavilions.

Thanksgiving at the White House could scarcely be called a day of rest. It was a day of activity for every member of the Roosevelt family. Immediately after breakfast the president was at his desk and the full force of White House clerks were clicking away at their typewriters and running to and fro busy as on any other day. Since election the official mail has been very heavy, and it has accumulated so that it was impossible to give a holiday there, although all the other government clerks had one, and growled because their chiefs would not give them a half holiday on Wednesday. The president buckled down to work early and by 11 o'clock he had his desk clear so he could keep an engagement with the members of the family to take a ride.

Took Cross-Country Gallop.

At that hour the president and Mrs. Roosevelt and all the children took carriages and drove out to Chevy Chase. Secret service men attended, riding on bicycles as usual. The air was clear and rather chilly, but it was a good day for a cross-country gallop. Arriving at Chevy Chase the party found their horses awaiting them and started out over the roads about Washington. For three or four hours they enjoyed a delightful outing and late in the afternoon returned to the White House, beaming with good spirits. The president had intended being present at church services today, but the children brought such strong pressure to bear for this outdoor picnic that he was obliged to yield.

At 7:30 in the evening the Thanksgiving dinner was served at the White House. Only the members of the president's family were present with the addition of a few house guests, among them Douglass Robinson of New York, the president's brother-in-law, and Mrs. Robinson. The turkey that graced the center of the table was a 35-pound bird that had been sent to the president by Horace Vose of Westerly, R. I.

If this were a monarchy instead of a republic, Mr. Vose would be entitled to print on his stationery "Special purveyor of turkeys to his majesty," for he has the honor of furnishing the White House turkey on every Thanksgiving. It makes no difference what the politics of the incumbent, Mr. Vose supplies him with his Thanksgiving feast and has done so for 30 years.

The local police will have a detail at the station to prevent persons congregating in the train shed while the change of engines is being made.

Gen. Kuropatkin Summarizes Russian Casualties for 12 Days Prior to October 21—At Least 8,000 Dead.

No mention is made of the dead, although 8,000 are reported by the correspondents to have fallen in the right wing alone in a series of charges unsuccessfully made to capture Gen. Oku's position.

TURKEY AT LAST FOR ROCKEFELLER

Mate to President's Bird Graced Table of Standard Oil Dyspeptic.

MR. CARNEGIE ATE AT HOME

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—For the first time in many years John D. Rockefeller tasted turkey today. His physicians today decided the richest man in America could have the privilege enjoyed by the average American citizen, and the Standard Oil king availed himself of it to the full.

Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island, father of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., scoured the state famous for its turkeys, and succeeded in getting a mate of the bird sent to President Roosevelt, for Mr. Rockefeller's table. The Rockefeller mansion in Pocantico Hills, was the scene today of a typical American Thanksgiving dinner, such as Mr. Rockefeller enjoyed when he was a country boy.

Andrew Carnegie enjoyed his turkey with his family in his Fifth avenue mansion. It also was a Rhode Island bird. The report that the great ironmaster supplemented his turkey with haggis and scones is not founded on fact. The regulation pumpkin pie and hard cider were the main accompaniments of the piece de resistance.

J. P. Morgan found time between studying the plans for his great art museum to join his family in discussing the merits of a fine 25-pound gobbler from Connecticut.

John W. Gates, as usual, ate his Thanksgiving dinner at the Waldorf. The principal dish was roasted turkey stuffed with Italian chestnuts.

Reports from the Sage kitchen say the turkey was a Plymouth Rock hen. Mrs. Hetty Green is credited with roast mallard duck for her Thanksgiving dinner.

SELF-SACRIFICE ENDS IN DEATH OF NURSE

Overcome by Smallpox After Successfully Combating Disease in Friend's Family.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MEXICO, MO., Nov. 24.—After nursing back to health the smallpox-stricken family of R. S. McKinney, Miss May Rutter of this city, who voluntarily undertook the task, is dead from the disease. Prompted by a spirit of self-sacrifice, Miss Rutter, when she heard of the outbreak of the malady in the McKinney family, at once volunteered her services as nurse, and to all entreaties of her friends who pleaded with her not to undergo the task she answered that she did not fear for herself.

Feeling that she was immune, Miss Rutter went to the McKinney home, where she carefully nursed each member of the family in turn, and yesterday it was said that all of them would recover. Four days ago, however, Miss Rutter contracted the disease.

There was no lack of nurses for her, for her own spirit of heroism had aroused that of other persons in the town, and she was carefully nursed during the four days. Physicians were constantly at her side when it was realized that she was suffering from a more dreaded form of the disease than those whom she had ministered to.

All efforts of her friends were unavailing, however, and she died last night.

RAJAH TIP WAS GRATEFUL.

Remembers Kittanning Physician Who Saved Him from Peril During Chicago World's Fair.

KITTANNING, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Dr. C. A. Flower, one of the oldest practicing physicians of the Kiskiminetas valley, has just returned from St. Louis, where he was called mysteriously about a week ago. Dr. Flower, while on the midway at the Chicago fair in 1893, rescued a young Hindoo from the feet of a camel, and later prevented some young physicians there from performing an amputation. On the doctor's leaving someone pressed into his hand an oval medal with Arabic characters. He was then asked for his card. One month ago he was handed a letter containing a clipping from a western paper calling the attention of one Dr. C. A. Flower to the fact that if he would call at the Indian headquarters in St. Louis and bring with him a talisman which had been handed him in Chicago many years ago, it would be to his good. Last week Dr. Flower visited St. Louis and found that the Hindoo lad whom he had rescued in Chicago was now Rajah Tip Sahib and that he had sent presents to the amount of about $10,000 to the physician, who was also given to understand that he was wanted in India at his earliest convenience to become physician of the rajah's household. Dr. Flower says he will accept.

ROOSEVELT AND TAFT BOYS ARE FAST FRIENDS

They Sometimes Inveigle the President Into a Game of Ball.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Archie Roosevelt has a new chum. He is Charlie Taft, son of the secretary of war, and the two are great friends. Charlie is a year younger than Archie, but is a grade ahead of him in the public school that they both attend, and this fact gives him some standing with the son of the president. The two boys are almost inseparable. Both are strenuous sons of strenuous parents and on occasions they inveigle the president into a game of ball in the White House yard. Today Charlie Taft spent a part of the day with his friend Archie and they induced the president to "bat flies" for them. Then Theodore, Jr., joined in the game and the youngsters made it lively for the president.

Helen Taft, aged 13, is also a close friend of Ethel Roosevelt, and the two girls spend a great deal of time together. They are both half boarders at the Cathedral school and often they come home of an afternoon for a ride together. Miss Helen spent several hours today with the youngest daughter of the president. This is the first experience of Charlie Taft in the public schools, as he was studying under a tutor during his residence in the Philippines.

Quentin Roosevelt, the baby of the White House, objects to being written up in the newspapers. Whenever an item appears in the local papers about him, he bursts into the newspaper office the following day to demand the identity of the man who wrote it, threatening all kinds of things against the guilty person. He is a great favorite among all of those who are employed about the White House and he never lacks for a friend to help him fix a puncture in the tire of his bicycle or get him out of any other little trouble. He celebrated his seventh birthday last week and was the recipient of congratulations from many friends. He does not attend school, but studies under a private tutor.

POLICE HAVE ANOTHER SUSPECT UNDER ARREST

Supposed "Mr. Dove" of Auto Murder Mystery Reported at Streator, Ill.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Another suspect in the deepening automobile murder mystery was brought to bay late tonight, this one in Streator, Ill. The man was placed under close surveillance by the police of Streator tonight, reinforced by detectives rushed from Chicago to follow the new clue, and his arrest is expected within a few hours.

The officers, baffled, shifted operations to Streator on the information that the supposed "Mr. Dove" told Station Agent Edward Hines in Romeo that he was bound for Streator, coupled with the report that a suspicious character answering the suspect's description had been seen in those parts.

Detectives were sent from Harrison street police station to Joliet hurriedly this morning on information of the new clue and Inspector Lavin maintained an unwonted mystery regarding the operations. The Chicago detectives and Streator police soon had the suspect under surveillance, but it was decided to defer an arrest.

"I think we have a very important clue," said the Streator police chief. "It is so important that we cannot at present make any details public. It is true that we have one man under surveillance. He cannot escape us and we are working hard to develop all the facts possible. The outlook is promising."

Fred Hermes, a 14-year-old boy arrested today on a charge of stealing a horse and buggy and driving out Archer road the fatal night, completely disappointed the expectations of the police that he would throw light on the mystery. He was reported to have carried the murder suspect to Joliet, but denied any such occurrence or any knowledge of the crime.

TRAPPED BY THE WOMAN THEY HAD IMPOSED UPON

Housekeeper's Memory for Faces Resulted in Arrest of Two Impositors. Pastor Refused to Prosecute.

Overconfidence resulting from their first visit and failing to credit the housekeeper at the parsonage of St. Martin's German Catholic church in Steuben street, West End, with having a good memory for faces caused the undoing of Albert Hoehestein of 2123 Fifth avenue and Morris Mellinger of Colwell street. The men each paid $10 and costs at No. 7 police station yesterday, having been arrested in Steuben street on Wednesday after making a second call at the parish house.

Three weeks ago the two men drove up to the parsonage with a wagon and told the housekeeper they had been sent by the pastor, the Rev. Louis Woelfel, for a lot of empty wine bottles. The housekeeper unsuspectingly led the men to the cellar and showed them the bottles. John Smochrehen, a painter, was working at the house, and Hoehestein and Mellinger called him and another man who was working about the place and told them to load the wagon with the bottles. The painter protested he was busy, and he received 25 cents for his assistance.

After the wagon was loaded the men drove away and their imposition on the housekeeper was not discovered till the pastor's return. Wednesday Hoehestein and Mellinger returned with their wagon and asked for empty bottles. The housekeeper notified the pastor that the men had returned, a policeman was called and they were placed under arrest.

Father Woelfel appeared at the hearing yesterday and stated that the bottles were worth 3 cents each, but admiring the nerve of the prisoners for returning a second time he refused to prosecute them.

SUICIDE IN MID-OCEAN CREATES PANIC ON SHIP

Passenger Jumps Overboard from the Steamer Graf Waldersee.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The steamer Graf Waldersee got into Hoboken today with a tale of a panic among the steerage passengers at sea on Tuesday last. Diesiary Bonia, an immigrant 34 years old, committed suicide by jumping overboard.

He was seen by some other steerage passengers and they immediately made a great outcry, which sent the women and children running about in wild excitement. It was with the greatest difficulty they were calmed again. A heavy sea was running at the time, and although life belts were thrown over nothing was seen again of Bonia.

Chief Officer Carl Wresman said after the passenger had jumped overboard and efforts to rescue him had been fruitless, he had made inquiries among the steerage passengers concerning the suicide, and some of them told him the man had declared his wife was in prison in Hamburg for child murder, and that he was desperate.

THREE SHOCKS REQUIRED TO KILL THIS MURDERER

Grewsome Scenes Attend the Electrocution of Otis Loveland in Ohio Penitentiary.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25.—A grewsome scene attended the electrocution of Otis Loveland, the last of the trio of robbers who killed George Geyer, a farmer, near Alton, O., more than a year ago, which took place in the annex of the Ohio penitentiary shortly after midnight. Three shocks were necessary to produce death. The first was administered at 12:04, and it was 12:18 before Loveland was pronounced dead. The condemned man's body showed remarkable resistance, the instrument recording 5½ amperes.

After the first shock, which failed to cause death, it was found necessary to remove the electrodes and wet the sponges. When the second shock was administered the full current, 1,750 volts, was turned into the body, which jerked and writhed under the heavy electric force. A third shock was administered to make the electrocution certain. The physicians attribute the hitch in the electrocution solely to the strong resistance shown by the condemned man.

Loveland was visibly excited when he went to the chair, but showed no signs of weakness.

The police believe Hart and Moran were implicated in the holdup.

MR. AND MRS. FAIRBANKS HAD MANY CALLERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Vice President-elect and Mrs. Fairbanks passed Thanksgiving day at the Waldorf-Astoria, where many of their friends called on them. In the evening they dined quietly at the hotel, together with their two sons, who had come on from Yale to be with them.

Magistrate Was Merciful.

Police Magistrate Stewart of central station was inclined to deal very leniently with petty offenders who appeared before him yesterday morning. There were 27 cases all told, and all escaped with a reprimand. A new record was established at central station in that not a single prisoner was taken either to the workhouse or to the jail.

Answers Were Unsatisfactory.

John L. Streeter of Allegheny and Harry Hahn of South Fourteenth street were locked in the South Side police station last night. Hahn was trying to sell a pair of hair clippers and Streeter some bottles. Neither could give a satisfactory account of where they had secured the articles.

WILL ERECT MONUMENT TO SLOCUM VICTIMS

Executive Board of the Survivors' Association to Honor the Unidentified Dead.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—At a special meeting of the executive board of the Slocum Disaster Survivors' association today it was decided to erect a monument in the Lutheran cemetery to the memory of the unidentified dead buried there. The board consists of 11 members. All lost from two to four members of their immediate families.

The board asks that the public contribute to a fund for this purpose. This appeal is made for the reason that the survivors do not want to ask for any portion of whatever surplus there may be remaining in the funds contributed to the citizens' relief committee or of the $50,000 which was originally set aside by the city for immediate relief.

TOUGH CAMP FOLLOWERS.

They Are Causing Trouble in the Russian Army and Will Be Disposed of by Severe Measures.

MUKDEN, Nov. 24.—Much difficulty is being experienced with camp followers, mostly Circassians, Tartars and other tribesmen from the Caucasus. They swagger around in cloaks and fur hats, with daggers at their belts and commit so many depredations that severe measures have been adopted to get rid of them.

The question of housing the people of Mukden is serious. Chinese from the surrounding country are flocking in for winter, and military quarters must be found for many civilian employes. A small room with no conveniences now costs $2 a day, whereas before the war half a dozen small houses were rented for $50 dollars a year.

The question of heating is even more serious. Wood is worth a cent a pound.

Zemstvo Committee Agrees on Declarations for Drastic Reforms in Russia.

BUREAUCRACY IS CONDEMNED

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1904, by New York Herald Co.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 24.—As a result of the Zemstvos meeting a number of propositions embodying desired reforms in Russia were agreed to by 70 out of the 120 members of the zemstvos body. The report to the emperor will include the following declarations:

"First—That at the present moment the government is completely out of touch with the Russian people and their wants.

"Second—That the government, in the opinion of the commission, has proceeded too far in the distrust which it has shown toward the establishment of anything like self-government.

"Third—That the bureacracy and centralization of the government in St. Petersburg has to a great extent alienated the people from the throne."

Article four is not worked out.

"Fifth—That in order that Russia may be governed properly, there must be absolute freedom of conscience, religion, speech and press.

"Sixth—That all inhabitants of Russia, without regard to position and religion, must enjoy equal and the same civil and political rights.

"Seven—Every person irrespective of position shall have the right to vote for members of the zemstvos, or be himself elected thereto."

Article 8 was not worked out, but it deals with recommendation that there should be two legislative houses, not on the British plan, but a lower house to consist of members of the zemstvos and an upper house to be modeled on that of the American senate. This point was still under discussion.

"Nine—That every person shall have the right, through his member, to have a voice in the formation of new legislation, in general control of the government and confirmation of the budget.

"Ten—That in order that the recommendation made by the commissioners may be brought into force in such a way as to be of the greatest benefit to the people, a general plebiscite should be taken all over Russia."

M. Rodicheff of Tver, a place always recognized as the headquarters of progress in Russia, is the principal mover in the zemstvos committee.

HAPPY MOTHER'S TOUCHING STORY

Of Baby's Dreadful Suffering from Eczema.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

Now His Skin Is as White as a Snow Flake.

"A terrible rash broke out on Charlie's poor little face and spread to his neck, chest and back. I had never seen anything quite like it before," writes Mrs. Helena Rath of 821 10th Ave., N. Y. City. "The skin rose in little lumps, and matter came out. My baby's skin was hot, and how he did suffer. He wouldn't eat, and night after night I walked the floor with him, weak as I was. Often I had to stop because I felt faint and my back throbbed with pain. But the worst pain of all was to see my poor little boy burning with those nasty sores. At last I was persuaded by a friend across the street to try the Cuticura Remedies. She gave me some Cuticura Ointment—I think the box was about half full—and a piece of Cuticura Soap. I followed the directions, bathing Charlie and putting that nice Ointment on the sores. Little by little, but so surely, Charlie and I both got more peace by day and more sleep by night. The sores sort of dried up and went away, and now Charlie is cured completely."

"Yes, that fat little boy by the window is Charlie, and his skin is as white as a snow flake, thanks to the Cuticura Remedies. I think everybody should know about the Soap and Ointment, and if it is going to help other mothers with sick babies, go ahead and publish what I have told you."

Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Resolvent, 50c. (In form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60), Ointment, 50c., Soap, 25c. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props.

TO END LIFE IN SOLDIERS' HOME

Founder of the Amalgamated Association Leaves Today for Point Comfort.

MAN OF MANY VALUABLE IDEAS

David Reese, the founder of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, will leave today for Point Comfort, Va., where he expects to spend his remaining days in the Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers.

Mr. Reese has been living with his aged wife at 421 Sloan streets, Esplen borough. He was probably the greatest puddler the mills of this district ever produced. He was born in Staffordshire, England, in 1835, and came to this country when 11 years of age. He first worked for the Mt. Savage iron works of the DeVaud company, and there introduced regulating doors on heating furnaces, an invention that proved of inestimable value to the iron and steel manufacturers of this country.

Before the war he was an ardent believer in free labor and took a prominent part in the discussions which led up to the civil war. In 1860 he was a resident of Wheeling, W. Va. Although that portion of Virginia remained loyal, yet there were plenty of slavery sympathizers there, and during the campaign preceding the first election of Abraham Lincoln, Mr. Reese was mobbed while making a speech in that city and narrowly escaped with his life.

Led an Army of Voters.

When election day came around he shut down the mills of Wheeling and marched 2,000 iron workers to the polls to vote for Mr. Lincoln. He probably contributed as much to the success of the Republican party that year as any other one man.

When Ft. Sumter was fired upon and President Lincoln called for volunteers, Mr. Reese was one of the first to answer the summons. He enlisted as a private in the First West Virginia regiment, Col. Kelly commanding, and served three months. He fought in the battle of Philippi and commanded the squad which carried Col. Kelly, after he had been wounded, 12 miles on a stretcher, to Grafton, W. Va. He was later promoted to orderly and assisted in the reorganization of his regiment after it disbanded. In 1863 he went to Harrisburg and enlisted in the Two Hundred and First Pennsylvania volunteers. He fought under Gen. Meade at Gettysburg and saw Gen. Reynolds shot from his horse on Culp's Hill. He was himself wounded in the foot with a fragment of shell. Later he received a commission as first lieutenant of Company F, Twenty-sixth regiment, from Gov. Andrew G. Curtin. After the war ended he returned to West Fairview, W. Va., and went back to his work in the mills.

Origin of Amalgamated Association.

In 1875 he was sent to Philadelphia as a delegate to the convention of the Sons of Vulcan, the original iron workers' union. He made an address there and presented a resolution calling for the amalgamation of the Sons of Vulcan with the organizations of the heaters and rollers. The resolution carried and October 15 a convention of delegates from the several unions met and drafted a constitution to be the basis of the amalgamation. David Reese was elected chairman of a committee to call a convention. Joseph Bishop, the first president of the Amalgamated, was a member of that committee. In 1876 the convention was held and the Amalgamated association was formed.

As a puddler Mr. Reese had no equal. His fellow workmen testify that he could puddle more iron with one hand than many who contested with him with two, as he frequently proved in contests. He once narrowly escaped death at the hands of a competitor whom he defeated in a contest at the old National rolling mill in McKeesport.

Mr. Reese was intimately associated with Tom Johnson years ago. He first suggested to Johnson that the only way to make a rail with strength and elasticity was to roll it from a solid billet.

Idea Netted a Fortune.

Johnson immediately reconstructed an old plant at Moxamville, near Johnstown, and fitted it with rails brought from his plant in Birmingham, Ala. The plant was a distinct success and Johnson made a fortune from the idea.

Mr. Reese worked for many of the iron and steel companies throughout the country. He was always looked upon as a man of superior ability and his ideas were always sought by his employers. Many of them were the foundations of fortunes for the men for whom he worked. The old wound he received at Gettysburg is troubling him now. One side has become partially paralyzed and he is no longer able to care for himself. He has several children and his aged wife will make her home with them, while the father will go to the soldiers' home to spend the rest of his days.

In the history of the iron and steel business of Pittsburgh there is probably no name better known and none more entitled to recognition than that of David Reese.

David Reese.

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAYS ON NATIONAL HOLIDAY

Suggestion That the President Might Have Been Thinking of Local Men.

Prof. John A. Brashear of Allegheny and Congressman H. Kirke Porter of Pittsburgh got into communication over the telephone yesterday and exchanged congratulations. Both were born on November 24, 1840, and at the sixty-fourth milestone each assured the other that he never felt better in his life. Neither had arranged any special affair to mark the advent of the day, except, of course, the usual plans for such an occasion as Thanksgiving. Had it not been for the serious illness of Mrs. Brashear, the professor and his relatives would have had a reunion and some kind of jollification. Mrs. Brashear has been confined to her room for some time and Prof. Brashear spent the day with her. Prof. Brashear said yesterday afternoon:

"Kirke Porter and I were born on the same day, and we had some argument as to who felt the more youthful. The question has not been decided yet, but, of course, we won't quarrel over it. Mr. Porter assured me that President Roosevelt knew several months ago that it was his (Porter's) birthday today, and that it was because of this that the president set November 24 as the day on which the nation should celebrate its holiday. This may be true, but you will have to ask the president for corroboration. I am not making any such pretensions.

"It just occurred to me today that Mr. Carnegie would celebrate his birthday tomorrow. I wish we could all get together and call in Rabbi J. Leonard Levy, for this is his birthday, too, and have some sort of a celebration. Should we all live another year, perhaps we shall do something of this kind."

Farewell to Favorites.

Several theater parties comprising friends of William Ingersoll and Miss Eva Taylor, who are playing at the Grand this week, will attend the closing performance Saturday night to bid the old favorites of the Davis Stock Company farewell.

Held Their First Reception.

Th Order of Railroad Conductors, Chartiers Valley division No. 477, gave their first annual reception and dance Wednesday night in New Star hall, Carnegie. There were nearly 800 guests.

FIFTEEN RIDERS RODE IN THANKSGIVING HUNT

Big Gathering at Pittsburgh Country Club for the Annual Chase Around the Boulevard.

Bad weather and slippery hillsides yesterday morning did not prevent the annual Thanksgiving day chase of the Pittsburgh Hunt. Fifteen riders followed the pack, and among those who were nearest the hounds and who were never behind at the check was Miss Gertrude Mueller, the only lady rider who had the pluck to enlist in the hunt. There were more jumps than usual, and exceedingly fast time was made to the first check. The hounds were released in the field adjoining the buildings of the Pittsburgh Country club and followed the drag across the boulevard and over the customary course.

Muddy ground at one of the hurdles threw James C. Chaplin's mount, but the rider was soon back in the saddle and was up at the check. Two hundred people formed in a gallery on the piazzas of the club house. At the end of the hunt the hunters were entertained at luncheon, and with their scarlet costumes added to the picturesque settings of autumn decorations in the dining room. Yesterday's gathering of the Hunt was the first that it has held at the old grounds since removing the stables and kennels to McDonald a year and a half ago.

Those who rode were Frank M. Lowry, M. F. H.; Miss Mueller, Robert W. Bissell, H. N. VanVoorhis, H. L. Collins, D. Hayden Collins, Edward Groetzinger, A. F. McDonald, J. C. Chaplin, Walter Lyon, Edward Kearns, Henry Irwin, Jr., and three whips.

Therefore today we introduce the Guinea Hen Dinner, for 50c.

And Now Every Thought Is Centered on Christmas.

Thanksgiving Day belonging to the past, Christmas buying will commence with a rush. There are years of experience backing up the assumption. It cannot be urged too strongly upon those who have leisure to get along with their Christmas shopping in the early days, leaving the closing days for that very large class who are compelled to defer the selection of gift things until the last moment.

Along this trend we urge parents to select their toys at the earliest possible moment, especially mechanical toys, for the very good reason that once the line is closed there is no way in which it can be renewed in time for Christmas selling. Speaking of toys, we would like everybody, old and young, to see

THE MINIATURE CONEY ISLAND DISPLAY IN ONE OF THE EAST STORE WINDOWS.

There never was such another attractive toy display—automobile races, flying horses, shoot-the-chutes, swings, etc.—all in operation at the same time. It is a fascinating exhibit, and novelly interesting for both young and old.

Midwinter Styles in Girls' Suits.

We have just received a large invoice of girls' suits expressing the latest ideas for midwinter wear. Mothers who dislike the ordeal of selecting and choosing will find that task lightened greatly here, as they will be shown only the latest arrivals and will not have to wade through a myriad of passe styles.

The Block Arc Lights.

Sold only by Joseph Horne Co.

A 2,000 candle-power Block Gas Arc Lamp burns but one mantle and costs only one-half cent an hour. We leave it to you, Mr. Merchant, how much more per hour you are paying for every electric arc in your place of business, be it mill or factory or store.

Another thing—a Block Arc Lamp casts a stronger light, a steadier light, than any electric lamp and never flickers—nor is it effected by the vibration of machinery.

The Block Home Lights.

Sold only by Joseph Horne Co. See that name Block Light is on Burner and Mantle—otherwise an inferior article.

A 300 candlepower Block Light is equivalent to 10 incandescent lamps, yet it costs less than one-half cent per hour. A 300 candlepower Block Lamp throws a mellow, even light that is perfection for reading purposes. Block Home Lights complete, $1.25 to $2.25.

Any Block Lamp burns natural, artificial or gasoline gas—moreover, a Block Light practically never burns out, as there are no wires to become bent, the center support being of an indestructible substance.

$5.00 French Shirtwaist Patterns, $2.50 and $3.00.

These are imported linen shirtwaist patterns beautifully embroidered. Each is neatly boxed and eminently suitable for presentation purposes.

It is seldom that opportunity is offered to secure special prices on articles of a gift nature and therefore such an offer is all the more welcome.

25c for Untrimmed Felt Hats.

This is a collection of women's and misses' hats, new styles and some of them worth all of $3.00, for which price they sold formerly. We will not add a word as to description, but simply let the former price tell the tale.

At the same price of 25c each there will be a lot of children's hats which a little earlier in the season were marked at 75c and $1.00 each.

After you have bought a hat for the ridiculous underprice of 25c, select a coque breast, pompon or other feather trimming, regular 50c and 75c qualities. Pay only 25c.

For $1.00 you can buy

While the cruiser Pennsylvania has exceeded any other in the navy in its average speed for the trial, its builders justly gave more attention to its coal consumption. In that respect the performance of the vessel was remarkable. There is good reason to believe that when the engines are thoroughly limbered up by use the Pennsylvania will be capable of higher speed than twenty-three knots an hour. Carrying, as it does, an armament almost in the battleship class this addition to the American navy is a fighting machine equal to any afloat. It has powerful guns, good armor, great steaming radius and extraordinary mobility. The Pennsylvania is worthy of its name.

The campaign is over and with it the restraints on public speaking which President Roosevelt imposed on himself. It must be a relief for the man who is so fertile in thought and free in its expression to be able to take the people in his confidence once more without the limitations which are placed on a chief executive seeking election. Much has been said about the "golden" quality of silence, and a lax control of the tongue is often prejudicial, especially when the speaker becomes unnatural because he realizes the dignity of his office. But when a high official talks as other men do and his nobility of character and purity of life are expressed in every sentence, people will not fail to appreciate that he is "one of them." Frankness is a comparatively rare trait of character and audiences will forgive much if they are convinced that the speaker is sincere.

A vivid idea of the extent and importance of the export trade of Pittsburgh is given by a special dispatch to The Gazette from New York upon the heavy shipments which have been going on of the products of this district. England, Continental Europe, South America, Australia, the Philippines and India are among the countries to which consignments are made. There is no part of the world today which does not furnish a market for Pittsburgh products. An interesting instance of the vast circuit over which Pittsburgh products pass was recently furnished at the Riverside penitentiary. The material of the cocoa matting made at the penitentiary comes from India. Recently an iron tie upon one of the bales was identified as having been made at a mill within a mile of the penitentiary. It had gone more than half way around the globe to traverse the short distance from the mill to the penitentiary workshop.

The nine denominations which joined in a thanksgiving service at Detroit yesterday followed the teaching of the motto, "Unity in things necessary, liberty in what is doubtful, charity in all things." It must have been a remarkable assemblage which convened in the opera house so that any sect regulations concerning houses of worship might not be violated, for no doubt the participants found that all might agree in the simple expression of gratitude for blessings and acknowledgment of divine power. It is only as the "ice is broken" by such meetings that the strict partisan in religious matters will find there is so much spiritual truth in common. The assembly of ministers of different creeds on a common platform to pay tribute to the memory of some distinguished citizen has been frequent of late and now a step has been taken still further in advance, for they appeared yesterday as religious teachers rather than representative citizens.

A division of the Russian second Pacific squadron—which is now the official designation of the former Baltic fleet—has arrived at the entrance of the Suez canal, passage through which will take the division into eastern waters. Unless the Japanese anticipate matters it is, however, likely that months may still elapse before the squadron arrives upon the scene of action. The second division has just sailed and the expectation is that the whole squadron will assemble before moving on to its destination. This is, however, hardly more than mere conjecture, as nothing is really known of the plans of the Russians. It is obvious that much will depend upon the situation which may in the meanwhile be developed. If the Japanese are able to get possession of Port Arthur it will make a great difference in the state of affairs, as Admiral Togo's fleet will be released from its present service and be free to attend to the Russian fleet. Gen. Stoessel's obstinate resistance will be amply justified by the way it confines the Japanese fleet to blockade duty if he can keep it up until the Russian fleet can arrive. An attempt to revictual the distressed garrison has just been frustrated, the Japanese having captured an English steamer that tried to run the blockade with a cargo of tinned meat.

The report concerning the outbreak of the much-dreaded yellow fever in Cuba need not be surprising, when the difficulties attending the sanitary renovation of the island are considered. With all the precautions taken by the United States to prevent the disease we have suffered from several serious epidemics. Contrasted with the cleanliness of this country are the filthy conditions that have prevailed so long on that island that they have not encouraged personal regard for cleanliness. To clean up a few streets has no doubt done much to improve conditions, but the people must be educated in sanitary principles before the tendency to yellow fever recurrence is entirely stopped. Fortunately the United States still has a grip on the young republic and proposes to use authority, if necessary, to enforce health rules.

Tariff Revision.

President Roosevelt is acting very judiciously in deferring any decision upon the policy of the administration about the tariff until full opportunity has been given for the expression of all shades of party sentiment and he has had the benefit of the advice and suggestions of the party leaders. It is such a tremendous undertaking to overhaul the tariff that those who will have the heavy work to do naturally shrink from it, but occasions arise when, as the late Senator Quay used to say, it is not a question of tackling an issue, but it is a case of an issue tackling the party. At present this seems to be the case as regards tariff revision. It is an evidence of this that opponents of tariff revision are now engaged in proposing alternatives, as, for instance, Secretary Shaw's proposal to deal with the demand for revision by an extension of the drawback system.

Another suggestion that has been made is that even if tariff revision is taken up it ought to be left to the regular session of the incoming congress. It has been proposed that the expiring congress should authorize the Republican members of the house ways and means committee and the senate finance committee to sit during the recess, so as to be able to report a bill at the beginning of the regular session in December, 1905. Further consideration will discredit that proposal. That was the mistake made in 1890, and as a consequence no time was left for the adjustment of business interests to the new conditions before the congressional elections and the Republican party sustained a crushing defeat. From a total of 173 in the house, the Republican membership was reduced to 88. It would be folly to take such a risk again.

If tariff revision is decided upon, the precedent of 1896 is the safe one to follow. President McKinley convoked congress to meet in special session, March 15, for the special purpose of tariff legislation. The party leaders had wisely mapped out their policy in advance and on March 19, the bill was reported to the house. Notwithstanding this promptitude the final passage of the bill did not take place until July 24, over four months later, although congress devoted all its time to that one measure. There was, however, a year and a quarter in which the country could acquire practical experience of the working of the act before the congressional elections came on. The result of the election was that the Republican party retained a safe majority. Although the party strength declined from 203 to 185 in a total of 357, it was the only time since 1872 that the Republican party had carried a mid-term election except in 1894, when a Democratic administration was in power. The conclusion to be drawn from such facts is sufficiently obvious.

State Bridge Bills.

It is reported that Gov. Pennypacker will recommend to the legislature an amendment to the law which provides that the state shall pay for the restoration of bridges spanning streams which mark the lines between counties when such bridges are destroyed by flood. The governor desires that the counties affected shall be required to pay part of the cost.

This bridge act was passed at a time when several interior counties had suffered heavily from unusual floods. Their misfortune excited lively public sympathy and as the state treasury was in healthy condition they had little difficulty in getting the legislature to make the provision for state aid. Since then it appears the interior counties have suffered from floods that carry away bridges as never before. The bridge bills of the state have been big and there have been expressed suspicions that some of them have contained a percentage of graft.

The act is unfair. Gov. Pennypacker has the right idea. The counties should pay at least one-half, and more properly two-thirds of the cost of restoring their bridges. It may be expected a good many rural legislators will resist an amendment to this effect. But there should be a sufficient number of members who are disinterested or honest, or both, to do justice to the state. The law ought to be amended or repealed.

Prosperity in the South.

While the comments of several southern leaders on the results of the recent election have been pessimistic, actual statistics ought to dispel any gloomy forebodings. The editor of the Manufacturers' Record of Baltimore, the exponent of industrial conditions in the south, recently gave his reasons why optimism ought to prevail in the southern states, and recited some figures showing the wonderful growth of all kinds of industries in that section during the past 25 years. But greater than any material evidence of prosperity he regards the experience and the backbone recently gained by the farmer and manufacturer who had been discouraged by the ravages of the war and the uncertainties of the reconstruction period.

The first reason given for encouragement in the south is that the price of cotton has been restored to the average, while the crop has increased, so its value this year is likely to exceed the value of all the agricultural products of the south in 1880. In the meantime the value of all agricultural products has more than doubled since that year, while manufactured articles have quadrupled. Last year there were 10 tons of coal mined in the southern states for every ton 25 years ago, or 50 per cent more than the entire bituminous output in the entire United States in the former year. The fact that the population has increased in the south more than 60 per cent is not of as much consequence as the improvement in the character of the immigration in that district.

In the face of all this prosperity the ever-present race question must grow somewhat obscure. But it must not be forgotten that the negroes are profiting by manual training and becoming fitted to lead industrious lives in the community. The progress of the race is necessarily slow and retarded by prejudice, but the leaven of one skilled mechanic turned out from such a school as that at Tuskegee must have a wide-reaching influence on others. If he proves to be a worthy citizen he will also raise the estimate put on his race by those who have had only to deal with the shiftless and dissolute black man.

Reapportionment Needed.

Our Democratic contemporary, the Pittsburgh Post, is notorious for its assumed knowledge of things that are "not so." Its latest ebullition is on the subject of reapportionment of this state into congressional, senatorial and legislative districts. Citing the mandate of the Constitution for apportionment in accord with the decennial census, it declares the Republican majority has been recreant to its trust and has wilfully refused to do its duty. For color to this baseless charge it recalls the attempts of former Gov. Pattison to force the legislature to act, unmindful of the fact that the Democratic minority in that body—then much larger than at present—did as much to prevent the needed legislation as the Republican majority.

Moreover the Post ignores the fact that the legislature of 1901 made a reapportionment of the congressional districts based on the census of 1900. This action was certainly prompt and to most persons the arrangement of districts appears fair. Not so to the Post. It says: "If there were an honest apportionment of the state for congressmen and members of the legislature the Democrats would in ordinary years elect many more members of the national and state house of representatives. It would be a good thing for the state if the minority party could always have a large representation in the legislature. For in that event it would be possible to prevent much bad legislation, as the honest and independent members of the majority party by joining with those of the minority could spike any such legislation."

The Post misrepresents the case. The congressional apportionment of 1901 gave the Democracy four districts believed to be certainly Democratic and several others fairly considered doubtful. Democratic policies have been so unpopular, however, that the supposedly doubtful districts have not been so and in the election of 1902 that party lost one of its "certain" districts. This year it lost two of the three remaining and retained the last one by a very slender margin. It would puzzle the wisest legislator to take the November returns and pick out any piece of "contiguous territory" that could be made to give the Democrats an additional member in either "the national or state house of representatives." As for the alleged effect upon legislation, it is contrary to all experience at Harrisburg. There has never been a combination of the "honest and independent members of the majority party" with those of the minority to "spike" vicious legislation, but there have been frequent coalitions of the worst elements of the Republican majority with the Democrats in the legislature to pass bad bills.

There should be a new apportionment of legislative districts to give localities the representation to which their population entities them. That is conceded. All the remainder of the Post argument is balderdash.

Not a Substitute.

A detailed account of the use of sulphate of copper in purifying water is given in the December number of the Century magazine. The process has undoubted scientific value, as it rests upon thorough tests made by government experts and observations have been continued for time enough to justify confidence in results. The principal value of the process is in exterminating reservoir growths which sometimes give a bad taste and a bad odor to the water, and it is also asserted that it will destroy typhoid fever germs in the water treated. In both these fields the process will have extensive usefulness, but it cannot take the place of sand filtration in insuring a supply of pure water.

The writer of the Century article takes care against giving any impression of that kind. He says. "The public must not make the mistake of imagining that the copper treatment for destroying disease bacteria in water supply systems is designed to replace or supersede slow sand and other efficient means of filtration now employed."

The only sure and complete way of ridding Pittsburgh of the typhoid fever plague is to build the filtration plant as planned. The only way to bring down the cost of water to domestic consumers is to meter the water supply.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YOK, Nov. 24.—The public prints tell us 409,000 turkeys today paid tribute to our annual day of Thanksgiving in New York city alone. What a slaughter of innocents there must have been from one end of this great land to the other. Certainly no one went without a turkey dinner today, for there were fully a dozen ways to get one without even paying for the turkey consumed. There were free dinners galore in the Bowery and even breakfasts for that matter. There was the Bowery mission dinner, another at the Bowery branch of the Young Men's Christian association, still another given by the Seamen's Christian association as well as at the Five Points mission, and hundreds of dinner baskets given out by the Salvation Army. And these are but a few of the many ways the more prosperous people of New York helped to make it a genuine day of thanksgiving for "the submerged tenth."

And those 409,000 turkeys! A man afflicted with the "figgers habit" has discovered that if they were combined into one turkey it would be 135 feet high, and if the 409,000 turkeys were to be formed into a single file procession they would reach from New York to Boston, and it would require six days for the parade to "pass a given point." If they had all come to New York together they would have filled 120 freight cars and three engines would have been required to haul them.

Incidentally, the turkey alone for New York's dinner today cost about $900,000, inasmuch as the price ranged from 25 to 30 cents a pound. When one considers the oysters and chestnuts and mince pies and other things that went to make up the sum total of the day's feast it is easy to see that New York "can go some" when it comes to a Thanksgiving dinner. We no longer give thanks in the same reverent spirit that our forefathers did, perhaps, but we can at least all feel that we are pretty prosperous when we can eat up $1,000,000 or so at one sitting without feeling a financial strain. There may be a pang or two, but it will be physical.

Place of Honor Even at the Hotels.

Although the average New York hotel has forgotten how Americans of the real sort live and eat, and French and Italian cooks have usurped the places of Americans in the kitchen, tradition is still strong enough to give the turkey the place of honor on Thanksgiving and today the various hotels gave a genuine American dinner in place of the usual table d'hote. And that means one had the opportunity to get a hotel or restaurant dinner with turkey and cranberry sauce included at any price from 40 cents to $2. Usually the table d'hote dinner in New York is full of mystery to the ordinary victim. It shows the nation's great faith. One will sit at a table with a party of friends and allow a French or Italian waiter, he may never have seen before, bring on food the names of which you know not, nor would dare to inquire as to the component parts for fear of showing culinary ignorance. The nerve to "bluff it through" and take chances is what counts then. But today, thanks to Thanksgiving, one may recognize at least a few of the things that are set before him to be eaten.

Even the Homeless May Give Thanks.

Not even the homeless hundreds are forgotten in the general rejoicing today that we have had another year of prosperity, and beginning this morning 1,000 breakfasts were served to homeless men at the Bowery mission. It will be the same tomorrow and the day after, and will continue throughout the winter. This is an annual custom, it is true, but it is a beautiful charity nevertheless. Beginning with Thanksgiving day each year these breakfasts prepared for 1,000 men are served every morning until April 1, and no one need go forth hungry in search of work through all these long, cold months. The breakfasts are not sumptuous, it is true, but the food is wholesome and plentiful, and above all, hot, strong coffee is included in the bill of fare. Many a poor fellow has been given new life and renewed hope at the Bowery mission, for the world does not look so dreary after a cup of hot coffee goes down the throat.

No Need of Indiscriminate Charity.

Organized charity has taken so many forms in New York that there are very few beggars on the street. There are some, of course, but they are usually professionals, and the police are kept busy gathering them in. So many of them have been sent to spend vacations on Blackwells island during the past few years, that the true professional usually does his work in the dark and by mail. But ordinarily one is not often stopped in the street by a man with a pitiful tale of hard times. And even if he should be he can point out some place close at hand where the wants of the unfortunate are attended to and his story investigated. None of the New York charities are squeamish about spending a little money. They always give relief to the applicant first, and investigate his story later. But when he comes a second time he finds the man in charge knows all about him. Charity is almost an exact science here, and there is only a small chance for the professional beggar among those who do not care to refuse a small gift and who will not "wait to time" in an investigation.

Really a Great Holiday.

With scores of places of business closed today, the purveyors of amusements were very busy people. Nearly all the theaters along Broadway are sold out for the balance of the week, and the late comers will have to take their chances with the speculators, pay double price for seats or miss seeing the chosen performance.

THE AZURE.

'Tis only in the depths of blue
Man finds his dearest dreams fulfilled,
Where careful sorrows pass from view,
And every heart-cry's hushed and stilled.

So would I wing my joyous flight
To azure realms where rapture lies,
But not to yonder mystic height—
I find my heaven in your eyes!

Around the State

Wild Animals We Have Known.

The extremely low condition of the mountain streams will result in a scarcity of trout next year, unless plenty of rain soon comes, for the animals of the forest, especially 'coons, find little or no difficulty in catching and feeding on the finny tribe. Wednesday night a number of hunters in the east end of Sugar Valley captured two 'coons. While dressing the animals the next day, large numbers of trout were found in their stomachs. Rain is also needed to replenish wells, many of which are very low.—Altoona Gazette.

A 'coon that measured three feet and seven inches from tip to tip was killed in Deep hollow Monday night by Chester Johnson and Meose Myers. The pelt has been added to the Johnson-Owen collection, which includes the pelt of the 'coon killed in the oil exchange basement a short time ago.—Oil City Derrick.

Three deer have been killed on Boone's mountains, Clearfield county, this season by Punxsutawney hunters. The names of the successful hunters are James C. Greene, Dave Hoover and L. R. Huth. Another party of hunters left Wednesday for the hunting grounds and it may be that we will have more game to report next week.—Punxsutawney Republican.

The mountains around Milroy are alive with hunters and each train seems to be bringing more. Surely the present law is a poor one for the preservation of our game. It seems that some lovers of sport have been influential in bringing about arrangements whereby they may flock into places remote from their homes and recklessly destroy what little game is left. We believe that a daily average of over 200 hunters are in the woods surrounding Milroy during the entire season. The deer have no time for laying on flesh, so when winter sets in their weakened condition makes them an easy prey to deer dogs and wild cats, and what few escape are in no condition to reproduce their kind in vigor. What we need is a law to prevent deer hunting for 10 years at least.—Correspondent Lewistown Gazette.

One person here reports that they killed a large copperhead snake on election day and the snake seemed lively, as it was basking in the warm sunshine, something that does not often happen this late in the season, the 8th of November. The ugly serpent generally has crawled into his winter quarters before that time.—Belleville Correspondence.

We see that some of the city sports who have been hunting through Union and Snyder counties report quail very scarce and they give as the reason for the scarcity that the farmers did not feed the few birds that the farmers last season during the severe cold weather last winter and they froze and starved to death. What a nasty set of old hayseeders there is in the country that don't feed and care for the birds during the winter so they can raise fine flocks of birds ready for the city dudes to came around with their guns and dogs and shoot them in the fields just along side of the farmer, who is so busy husking corn and trying to get his work done up so he will have time to hunt and shoot some of the game on his own property, but the birds are all shot by a set of men who cannot tell a shock of corn from a mullin stock and then find fault with the farmer for not feeding and caring for the birds so they can come around and steal them.—Ryde Correspondence Lewistown Gazette.

Down On the Farm.

Marion Claypool of West Franklin township, near Worthington, brought a load of loose hay to Kittanning on Wednesday that weighed 5,510 pounds. This is the largest load of hay ever known to have been brought to the Kittanning market.—Kittanning Free Press.

Hundreds of thousands of bushels of apples in this county have been allowed to lie in the orchards this fall to rot or to freeze because there was no market for them. The crop was so abundant that after housing all that would be needed for winter consumption, making all the cider necessary, selling all that could be marketed and giving away the fine fruit to all who would pick up the apples, the surplus is still beyond any means of estimating. The quality of Tioga county apples, too, was unusually fine this season.—Wellsboro Agitator.

What is called the "cabbage snake" has made its appearance in northern climates; and one of them was lately discovered in a head of cabbage grown in the garden of Andrew Carr in Concord township. It was about 18 inches in length, white in color, was jointed, had showed signs of life. Regarding this snake an exchange says: "The recently discovered cabbage snake which has caused a number of deaths in the south has made its appearance in the north near Hazelton, Pa. Mrs. James Shisher made the discovery while making her winter's supply of kraut. The serpent is over a foot in length and is white in color, although under a glass it shows uniform green spots. Certain species of adders nest in cabbage heads and it is supposed that the cabbage snake is a partially developed adder."—Butler Citizen.

Interesting Items from Belleville.

Our trappers are getting their traps in order to set for all fur animals that are chicken thieves. We hope they will be successful in catching quite a number of these pesky varmints during the coming winter.

The fine rain last week raised the water in the springs and filled up the cisterns and put out the fire on our mountains. We still need more to raise the water in our creeks so our water-power mills can run on full time.

A number of our farmers commenced plowing their corn ground last week for next spring's crop, the ground being in fine order for plowing, and if freezing weather keeps away for two or three weeks yet there will be quite a great deal of plowing done.

This week will wind up the cider making for this year. Our cider men had quite a harvest this fall making cider, as apples were plenty and the big storm blew so many winter apples down that were made into cider that rolled the dimes as well as the dollars into the cider man's pocket.

Ground moles seem plenty this fall in the fields and if we have a great deal of snow the coming winter and the ground stays covered with snow during most of the winter they will injure the young wheat and clover, as they are bad medicine on the farmer's wheat and clover in winter when the snow is on the ground, and should be rid out some way.

The traction engine is making the last grand round for this year and is running the circular saw sawing up wood into stove lengths for a number of our farmers that are opposed to sawing their wood the old way with the buck saw. After the wood sawing is done then the engine will go into winter quarters and the fog horn and the wild cat whistle will be silent for some time to come, and the dogs can have rest.

The pot hunter that shot into a flock of quail the other day on land that trespass notices were up forbidding hunting had better not try that trick again, as he will be made pay for that kind of work. After that he certainly lit out at a lively rate and it was well he did, or he would have been caught. The majority of the farmers around here have trespass notices up. They were compelled to do it to save their chickens and turkeys from being shot or fence thrown down, as the pot hunter does not care what he does when out hunting.—Correspondence Lewistown Gazette.

Piano Tuning by Telephone.

The long distance telephone was put to a novel use Monday by A. D. Bulen. Mr. Bulen had been called to Oil City to tune a grand piano at that place. On arriving he was informed that the piano was to be tuned to the pitch of the instruments used in Coleman's orchestra of Titusville. With no standard at hand Mr. Bulen bethought himself of the telephone, and got into communication with Prof. Coleman. Mr. Bulen then asked the professor to give him the desired pitch over the telephone on the cornet. This was done, one string of the piano tuned to pitch and from it the others were tuned by Mr. Bulen.—Meadville Star.

Beef and Football.

As now played in our colleges and universities, football is confined entirely to men of great weight and power, with the exception of the quarterback, who must still be an alert and comparatively light player. Vigorous and active men of 160 to 170 pounds, who would have stood a chance of making teams 10 years ago, must now confine their ambitions to the second elevens or drop out altogether. Skill, speed and dash have given way to mere beef and brawn.—New York Evening Post.

Men and Women

Few young persons of 35 or more who can remember the annoyance of gaining four minutes by changing to "Philadelphia time" at every crossing of the Hudson and of losing 12 minutes when journeying eastward into "Boston time," knew to whom they mainly owed their deliverence until the death of Prof. Charles F. Dowd of Saratoga, the author of the "standard time" system. Dr. Dowd was a teacher. He made no fortune by his great service, but remained one of humanity's unknown benefactors. Before his work there were hundreds of time standards. Scarcely two railroads used the same. Now there are four—eastern, central, mountain and Pacific. And as each is just an hour from the next a traveler can reckon time anywhere, even without resetting his watch.

No campaigning done by women anywhere this fall—and mighty little done by men—compares with the record made in Idaho by Mrs. Sarah Foster, president of the Woman's National Republican association. In a canvas-covered prairie wagon she plunged across the country by day or night—it mattered not to her—stumping the state for Roosevelt. From one mining town to another she went, speaking 15 minutes here and 20 minutes there, as the case might be. Then she was on the road again. Sometimes Mrs. Foster enjoyed the luxury of a real bed in a real house, but more often it was a pine board in a miner's shack, where the curtain was strung up to divide the men's and women's quarters. One morning she held a bit of mirror for the party candidate to shave by, after which he in turn held it for her to do up her hair.

His imperial highness, Prince Sadanaru Fushimi, whose visit to the United States is on behalf of the emperor and the government of Japan, is an important personage in his own country. He is the head of the princely house of Fushimi, which is allied by blood ties to the imperial family. When the war with Russia came he went to the front, commanding the first division of the imperial guard. Soon his command was increased, his sphere of activity widened and his exploits during the campaign were notable. It was at the storming of Nanshan heights, however, that Prince Fushimi emerged from his princely shell and showed what soldierly stuff he is made of. He directed the assault in person, for hours at a time he was under fire, and when at last the blood-drenched hill remained in the possession of the Japanese the command of the vital position devolved on him, not because he was the ranking officer present, but because the position was taken at the cost of so many of his brave men who died doing his bidding.

The most remarkable figure in all Asia since the death of that sturdy old Afghan the Emperor Abdunaman Khan is the famous Empress Tsi An, who has been well called "the only man in China," and who has just celebrated her 70th birthday. The dramatic point of her career was when, in 1859, in company with 600 other young girls, she stood on her big feet, which had never been bound then or since, at the portals of the imperial palace, whence the Emperor Hsien Feng had issued a proclamation—in plain Americanese an advertisement—for secondary wives. An ambitious slip of 16, she had insisted on the adventure. She was one of the 10 aspirants chosen. Between the mere secondary wifehood and actual empresship a great gulf yawns. She bridged this with beauty, brains and the birth of a son. Emperor, empresses, superior and inferior nobles—all passed under her almost hypnotic influence, all under her compulsion taught her statecraft. Her first important interference was in the problems of national policy following the capture, in 1860, of Pekin by the French and English. And now, in her 70s, this cleverest woman is becoming—not conservative, but progressive. She has given receptions to the ladies of the diplomatic corps—an innovation; she has shattered precedent by holding audiences in the most sacred hall of the Forbidden City, which women are prohibited entering. Things foreign are being introduced with her sanction. Now she is making great favorites, and indeed, counsellors, of two charming girls, half American by birth, wholly Parisian by education—the Misses Nellie and Lizzie Yu Keng, the pretty daughters of the late minister to Paris.

Eugene F. Ware, the Kansas poet, become commissioner of pensions under the most auspicious circumstances. He was inducted into office with a blare of trumpets and a pyrotechnic display. The Kansan had a mind of his own and an independent spirit. It was Commissioner Ware who immortalized Mr. Wiggins of Georgia. Mr. Wiggins is carried on the rolls of the pension bureau at $1,200 a year. When Mr. Ware became commissioner of pensions Mr. Wiggins was messenger in the bureau. In poring over the records of the clerical force under him, Commissioner Ware found that for 14 years Mr. Wiggins had worked along the even tenor of his way without importuning his superior officers for promotion and without taking a day of his annual leave. Then it was that Wiggins of Georgia for the first time in his life basked in the white light of publicity. A placard was hung in the corridor of the pension bureau telling of the virtues of Wiggins. "Wiggins of Georgia," said Commissioner Ware, "is a model. His virtue should be copied by all government clerks. Wiggins of Georgia does not lie awake at night thinking about promotions. His annual leave does not disturb his dreams. Wiggins of Georgia is entitled to a place in the hall of fame. Wiggins of Georgia is promoted. His salary henceforth is $1,200 a year."

Mrs. Ednah Dow Cheney, who died in Jamaica Plain, Mass., the other day, was an author of some note, and was especially prominent in Woman Suffrage matters. She was in the Freedman's aid movement; had been vice president of the New England Women's club; president of the Massachusetts School Suffrage association; secretary from 1862 to 1887 of the New England Hospital for Women and Children, and later its president, which office she occupied up to two years ago. Mrs. Cheney had done much literary work and was the author of numerous volumes which have been widely read. She was married to Seth W. Cheney, an artist, in 1853. As a girl in the early days of Boston she was famous for her wit, her intellectual attainments and for her acuteness of mind. On one occasion when she was but a girl she was introduced by a rather famous man to his wife with the words, "I want to introduce you to a young woman who thinks." Such an introduction was a rather remarkable one in those days.

President Lincoln appointed Gen. di Cesnola, the late director of the Metropolitan museum in New York, United States consul at Cyprus, where he remained for 12 years. While there he made such important archaeological discoveries that Sir Austin Layard of Nineveh fame, and Sir Charles Newton of the British museum, declared in print they "added a new chapter to the history of art and archaeology, and revolutionized all the extant theories about ancient art." He had hardly settled in the consulate at Larnaca when he was impressed by the thought that Cyprus was the great central meeting point of the ancient races. He soon found Larnaca (the site of ancient Citium) to be what its name signifies—the "place of the tombs"—and in the winter of 1865-66 he opened several hundred tombs and carried on excavations at the Salines, the ancient port. Larnaca and the Salines were rich in terra cotta vases and statuettes. Gen. di Cesnola, in addition to the honors which he had already received from the king of Italy, was expecting to receive the decoration of the order of Sts. Maurizio and Lazzaro for his service in suggesting to J. Pierpont Morgan the returning to the Italian government of the highly prized historic Ascoli cope.

Francis E. Leupp, whom the president has appointed commissioner of Indian affairs, is a graduate of Williams college, where he received the degree of A. M., and of the law department of Columbia university, where he received the degree of LL. B. He was associate editor of the New York Evening Post from 1874 to 1878. In the latter year he became part owner of the Syracuse (N. Y.) Herald. In 1885 he went to Washington as one of the representatives of the New York Evening Post, and in 1888 was placed in charge of the bureau of that paper in that city. He is the editor of Good Government, the official organ of the National Civil Service Reform league, and in 1892-93 was made a member of the United States board of Indian commissioners. He was at one time on the editorial staff of the Evening Star. Mr. Leupp is the author of several books dealing with civil service and political economics and a life of the president, entitled, "The Man, Roosevelt."

ROOSEVELT HAS A LONG LEAD

Majority in Pennsylvania Is Much Greater Than That Given Republican State Ticket.

OVER 1,237,000 VOTES CAST

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
HARRISBURG, PA., Nov. 24.

Official returns from 65 of the 67 counties of Pennsylvania and the estimated vote of Allegheny and Butler counties give Roosevelt a plurality in the state of over 500,000 and the Republican candidate for judge of the supreme court about 423,000.

The total vote of the counties that have reported at the state department is 1,108,468, which will be increased to about 1,237,145 by the votes cast for president in Allegheny and Butler. The total vote received by Roosevelt without these counties is 743,883, while that given the Republican state ticket is 467,244, showing a difference in favor of the president of 86,634. This great gap will be increased to about 122,800 by the vote in Allegheny and Butler.

Leaving these counties out of the calculation, Roosevelt leads McKinley's poll in the state in 1900, 106,001 votes, while Parker is behind Bryan 81,599. The vote for supreme court judge is 989,494, which is 119,014 short of the number of ballots cast for president. Much of the reduction is due to the improper conception of the requirements of the new ballot law.

All the candidates for judge of the supreme court suffered by reason of this difficulty. Judge Thompson is behind the Democratic candidate for president 24,224, and the nominees for judge on the Prohibition and Socialist tickets, run respectively 3,000 and 5,000 votes below their candidates for president. Roosevelt ran ahead of the Republican state candidate in every county in the state and Parker made a similar record except in five counties, in which Roosevelt's personal popularity figured to a greater extent than in the other counties. In Schuylkill, Thompson's vote exceeded that of Parker 567, the largest difference recorded in favor of the latter. The total vote in the state will exceed that of the last presidential election about 64,000.

TIDE-WATER OUTLET ROUTE IS INSPECTED

Wabash Officials Make Overland Examination of Country Along Proposed Line.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 24.—There is rejoicing in Washington and Greene counties over the visit of the Wabash party to this neighborhood. The party today inspected the Fairmont, W. Va., end of the Greene county road, the Tidewater outlet of the Gould syndicate. Virgil C. Bogue and J. H. McClevert of New York, J. G. Barlow of Cumberland, Md., and Engineer W. N. Arthur of the Wabash Company, were with the company. Mr. Bogue is a consulting engineer for the Wabash Company and a banker of New York. He travels over lines throughout the United States and his advice and counsel are very valuable to the Wabash Company. In an interview last night Mr. Bogue said:

"The Greene county link is needed in the Wabash system and will be taken up in the near future. I am now on an inspection trip for the company and am securing everything of interest concerning the route for the company."

The party are driving overland from Patterson mills in Washington county, where the Greene county route will leave the Wabash terminal road, and are following the route to Fairmont, W. Va. President J. W. Patterson, Jr., who accompanied the party this far, returned to Pittsburgh. At the proposed tunnel at Van Buren and along Smith creek in Greene county minute inspection was made of the topography of the country.

This will be the last inspection of the line and the result of this work will be announced from the New York office early the coming year when it is thought work will be resumed if a favorable report is made, which is almost assured.

TO WED COAL OPERATOR.

Former Kindergarten Teacher to Become the Bride of an Elderly Millionaire of Hazleton, Pa.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Much interest was created among Brooklyn school teachers and others who knew Miss Alice Ross, a former teacher in the kindergarten at Pratt's institute, by the news received today that she and Frank Pardee, the elderly millionaire coal operator of Hazleton, Pa., are engaged to be married.

Miss Ross won Mr. Pardee's regard while teaching a small mission school at Hazleton. Frank Pardee is the managing partner of the firm of A. Pardee & Co., which controls the Cranberry and Crystal Ridge collieries near Hazleton. He is very wealthy and belongs to a family long established in the coal regions. His first wife died about five years ago.

DOCTOR BADLY HURT.

Dr. J. Harvey Reynolds, aged 68, of 21 Sprague avenue, Bellevue, is at his home in a critical condition, the result of a collision between an Avalon street car and the doctor's buggy at Lincoln and Florence avenues, Bellevue, about 11 o'clock yesterday morning. Two of Dr. Reynolds ribs are broken, his head is badly cut, and he is suffering from shock.

Dr. Reynolds was driving on Lincoln avenue. At Florence avenue his horse shied and pulled the buggy directly in front of the street car. The buggy was overturned and the doctor was thrown to the sidewalk.

SMALLPOX ADDING TO MINE STRIKERS' WOES

CLEARFIELD, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Smallpox has broken out at the mining town of Morris Run, Tioga county, where the men have been on a strike since April putting a stop to the eviction proceedings of the company. More than 50 houses are quarantined. President Patrick Gilday of the United Mine Workers of America, is in the field this week endeavoring to effect a settlement with the officials. In numerous instances the beds and stoves of the miners have been sold for back rent, entailing suffering and privation among the women and children.

THREE MEN WOUNDED IN CAMP SHOOTING AFFRAY

LANCASTER, PA., Nov. 24.—Three men were wounded in a shooting affray early this morning near Neffsville. Jacob and Charles Hacker went to a gypsy camp in that neighborhood and became involved in a quarrel with the gypsies. Jacob Hacker shot one of the latter in the leg and in the exchange of shots that followed both of the Hackers were wounded, neither, however, seriously. Officers are searching for the gypsies who did the shooting.

Hard Voyage, but Weathered It.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 24.—The steamer Stord from Sydney, C. B., with coal for whose safety fears were felt, arrived in this harbor this evening. The Stord was driven seaward in Sunday's gale and her machinery disabled. Her decks were swept by the sea, and she narrowly escaped going to the bottom. Several of her men were injured during the storm. The Stord was nine days making the passage from Sydney to St. Johns, whereas ordinarily the trip requires only 48 hours.

HOMESTEAD MAN HANGS HIMSELF TO A GAS JET

Herman Abranonn, Aged 22, Is Found Dead in the Residence of a Friend He Was Visiting in New York.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Herman Abranonn, 22 years old, a Russian farmer from Homestead, Pa., committed suicide today by hanging himself to a gas jet in his room. Abranonn's parents are well-to-do farmers, with a big place near Homestead. He came here about a week ago and went to stop with a friend, Jacob Brodsky. He had plenty of money, and seemed in good spirits, although he had been slightly ill for some time.

He received a letter written in Russian yesterday that seemed to contain bad news, although he made no complaint that the Brodsky family heard. He was morose after reading the letter and went out. When he returned in the evening he refused to partake of food and went to his room, where he wrote two letters in Russian. They were not addressed, and are now held by the coroner.

He tore his blanket into strips and with them wove a rope. This he fastened in a noose about his neck and tied the other end to the gas jet in the middle of the room. The gas jet not being high enough for him to hang from, he leaned forward, his feet touching the floor, letting his weight fall on the noose. He strangled to death. His weight proved too much for the gas jet, and after he had been dead for some time the whole fixture fell with a crash that awoke Brodsky in the next room.

Brodsky yelled for the police and an ambulance from the Harlem hospital brought Dr. Moeller. Abranonn was beyond help. His letters and effects were sealed for the coroner and word was sent to his folks in Homestead.

The name of Herman Abramof, who is reported to have committed suicide in New York, and whose home is said to have been in Homestead, does not appear in the Homestead directory and the police know nothing about the man.

PORTUGUESE KING HAS SPORT AT SNOWBALLING

Varies Pheasant Shooting by Making Target of Members of Hunting Party.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Nov. 24.—King Charles of Portugal and his party spent the last day of their visit at Chatsworth shooting in the pheasant preserves. The king, who is a magnificent shot, did great execution. The whole district was covered with deep snow, but the day was bright. Queen Amelie and the ladies of her suite joined the party at luncheon in a big marquee.

While awaiting the ladies, King Charles and the other shooters threw snowballs at a mark. This was too tame for the king, who, catching Marquis Desoveral, the Portugal ambassador to Great Britain, off his guard, made an accurate shot at the dignified diplomat. King Charles' example was quickly followed and the whole party engaged like schoolboys in an active snowballing.

While none of the missiles were actually aimed at his majesty, a number of distinguished personages were less fortunate. For some minutes the fun was fast and furious, the king being the most active and one of the most accurate among the fighters. The whole of the unusual incident was greatly enjoyed by a large number of spectators and rustics who had gathered nearby in the roadway.

The first of the series of three complimentary concerts to be given for John R. Roberts was held last night in the Welsh Congregational church by the Oakland Choral club. Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" was the appropriate selection for the Thanksgiving night entertainment. The music was rendered by a chorus of 100 voices, assisted by an orchestra selected from members of Emil Paur's players. The soloists were Miss Hattie Jones, soprano; Miss G. Wheat, contralto; Edward Vaughn, tenor, and Mr. Roberts baritone.

John R. Roberts, Baritone.

Mr. Roberts has made promising progress in his musical studies and the object of the concerts is to obtain him the best training possible. He probably will go abroad at the close of the season. W. J. Jones is conductor of the Oakland club concerts and J. Harry Jones is pianist.

DEPARTING STRIKERS ARE GIVEN ROYAL FAREWELL

Youngstown Mill Workers, Leaving for Illinois, Say Adieu Amid Blare of Brass Bands.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 24.—A demonstration seldom equaled in the city occurred this afternoon when about 140 strikers from the mills of the American Steel Hoop Company left on a special train for Madison, Ill., where they will work in the mills of the American Car and Foundry Company.

Fully 3,500 people were at the Pennsylvania station long before the time for the special train to leave, and they remained until after the train pulled out. The musicians of the city volunteered their services and they met at the strikers' headquarters, serenading the men there and accompanying them to the station. Men, women and children were at the station, and the strikers were loaded down with gifts of delicacies and lunch to last them until they reached their destination.

The band as the finale played "Auld Lang Syne" and "Home, Sweet Home." Addresses were made by the local strike officials. The men who left the city included rollers, heaters, roughers and bushelers, all among the most experienced men in the valley.

The latter boy did not have the wound dressed until yesterday, when he accompanied young Sprattman to the office of Dr. J. F. McKee of Carnegie.

KILLED HIS UNCLE IN SELF DEFENSE

Thanksgiving Tragedy in a Kentuck Home Is Justified by the Coroner.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HICKMAN, KY., Nov. 24.—Nit Shaw, proprietor of the Hickman Courier, in his own house, this morning shot and killed Robert Buck, his uncle, in self defense. The tragedy was not unexpected, as Buck had for days been threatening openly that he would kill Shaw. Buck was in the asylum at one time, but was released and till a few weeks ago it was thought his reason had been permanently restored. About 10 days ago, however, he became violent again and Mrs. Buck, for fear he would kill her, went to the home of her father in the country, her little daughter going to the home of Buck's nephew, Mr. Shaw. This angered Buck and for days he had been very violent.

Early this morning Buck telephoned Mr. Shaw at his home that he (Buck) would be over during the morning to settle all their earthly differences. About 9 o'clock he called and tried to force his way in. All the doors save the one leading into the kitchen were locked, and through this one Buck entered. As soon as he saw Shaw, despite the pleading of his own child, Buck started to draw his pistol, and had it half exposed, when Shaw fired once, the bullet going all the way through Buck's head, killing him instantly.

So well were the circumstances known when the coroner assembled his jury no other witnesses were heard but Mr. Shaw. The verdict was that Shaw had killed in self-defense and no warrant of arrest was issued. Mr. Shaw, who is but 25 years of age, stands very high in the community. Mr. Buck was about 40.

IDENTIFIED HER SISTER BUT WITHHOLDS NAME

Young Woman Wants the Body Buried as an "Unknown" Until Public Interest Subsides.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—No public identification of the body of the young woman who killed herself Monday night in the Gallavan house, Williamsburg, has been made, but the undertaker, who has the case in charge, believes a sister of the dead woman recognized the body at his place yesterday.

This woman arrived in a cab. She was well dressed and handsome. After looking at the body she told Mr. Montenes, the undertaker, that it was that of her sister who had been missing from home for some time. She refused to tell her name, but remarked, "You will hear from me tomorrow."

Montenes got a letter today signed "A heartbroken woman." She asks him to bury the body, promising as soon as the suicide ceases to be a matter of interest to the public she will send money to have the coffin transferred to the family plot in Cypress Hills cemetery. Montenes will bury the body tomorrow in a plot he holds in Mount Olivet cemetery.

JAPANESE HOLD BUT TWO FORTS

Pick and Shovel Supplant Rifle and Bayonet in Attack on Port Arthur.

COAL STORES ARE BURNED

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

HEADQUARTERS OF THE JAPANESE ARMY BEFORE PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 24—(Via Fusan, Nov. 24.)—The only permanent forts in the possession of the Japanese are the two Panlung forts captured in August. They hold the advance works of the Rihlung redoubt, called fort Kuropatkin; an entrenched hill miscalled Fort Kobu hill, Sachitakiyama, and One Hundred and Twenty-Four Metre hill. They also occupy the caponiere, galleries and moats of the two Rihlung forts and North Kekwan fort.

TOKYO, Nov. 24.—Telegraphing today, the headquarters of the army before Port Arthur reports:

"The conflagration in the buildings near the arsenal, caused by our naval guns, and reported yesterday, began about noon November 22 and continued until 2 o'clock the morning of November 23. It is probable the coal stores have been burned."

CHEFOO, Nov. 24.—(Special Cable.)—Pick and shovel have superseded rifle and bayonet in the attack on Port Arthur, for a while at least. While the bombardment from the Japanese siege guns is kept up with unabating vigor, the infantry of Nogi's army are at work in the trenches and mines.

Including Chinese coolies, it is estimated 100,000 men are at work driving galleries toward the foundations of the Russian fortresses. The Japanese have given up the idea of carrying the stronghold by assault, for the time being. There is hardly a fort in the system of inner defences which the Japanese would not be able to rush. Many of them they have captured, some more than once, but there is not a position essential to the defense which is not covered by the guns of half a dozen other positions, hence the Japanese have been unable to hold the ground taken.

It is this fact which has led Gen. Nogi to the conclusion that he must take Port Arthur with the pick and shovel. Incoming vessels report the actual blockading of Port Arthur is now entrusted largely to torpedo boat destroyers and small cruisers, and there is a report current that a number of the heavier armored vessels have been withdrawn from blockading duty.

JAPANESE REPULSE A RUSSIAN ATTACK

TOKYO, Nov. 24.—Manchurian headquarters in a telegram dated Nov. 23, reports: "At midnight, November 22, 600 of the enemy's infantry attacked Sing-Lun-Tun. Our advanced pickets, after resisting the attack for several hours, safely retired to the main body. The village was burned by the enemy."

PARIS AND BERLIN WILL FLOAT RUSSIAN LOAN

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Negotiations have practically been concluded for the issue in Berlin and Paris simultaneously in January of five per cent Russian treasury bonds to the value of $260,000,000 for five or seven years, the price of the issue to be about the same as that of the last Paris loan, Berlin taking $100,000,000, and the same French bankers who made the last loan taking $160,000,000.

WOMEN ALONE PATRONIZE THIS BROKERAGE OFFICE

"Exclusively for Ladies," It Has a Female Manager and If a Success Will Be Finely Furnished and Equipped.

LADIES' STOCK EXCHANGE—Christmas is coming; a $20 bill invested in the stock market will enable you to make some handsome presents; the ONLY EXCLUSIVE LADIES' STOCK AND GRAIN EXCHANGE in the city. NATIONAL COMMISSION CO., Room 31, Dallmeyer Block, 314 Fourth ave.

In one of the rear offices of the Dallmeyer block, along a hall that is lined with brokers' offices, is located Pittsburgh's latest financial wrinkle—the "only exclusive ladies' stock and grain exchange in the city." Miss T. Bourbeau presides over the office as its manager and reads the quotations from the tape with all the skill of the most adept translator of the strange symbols that are printed by the ticker.

The concern is known as the "National Commission Company," but R. E. Brannan, who is the sole owner, according to his own statement, says it is not incorporated, although he expects to have this done later, if business proves good.

The room is equipped with a big New York stock board, with a section for the grain figues, all on the most approved style. Whether the room is crowded or empty, Mr. Brannan keeps the board up to the second, according to the records of the ticker, as Miss Bourbeau reads them off.

"We have every one of our 15 chairs filled at times," said Mr. Brannan Wednesday. "This has been a dull day on account of the condition of the market, but it has been widely different on some of the other days in the week that we have been doing business.

"Every broker in town has a certain number of women patrons and it is a fact that they are, if anything, more keen than men in their understanding of the movements of prices.

"They come in the morning when the market opens and many bring their lunches and set out the market all day long. They buy most anything that is active, but Metropolitan, Wabash, Union Pacific and Amalgamated Copper are the favorites. They are quickly introduced to the secrets of 'puts' and 'calls,' and I find a growing tendency to trade in that way.

"Women are in some ways better than men to deal with. The great majority of them learn quickly that when their margins are wiped out they must accept their losses with the same certainty that they would collect their profits in case the market went their way. I find the only way is to be perfectly candid with them, and in case they are unreasonable, to let them end their business at once. But my experience is that they are better losers than men.

"One feature of their trading is that in nine cases out of 10 they are buyers. The bearish features of a stock do not appeal to them so strongly as the optimistic outlook. That is where the present market has been an expensive one for the broker. In the six months following October, 1903, there was nothing doing, and since that time the market has been steadily gaining, so that the customers, who are almost invariably buyers, have had the best of it.

"If the plan of operating a brokerage office for women exclusively proves as big a success as I believe it will, we shall open up finely-appointed offices and be prepared to add to the rooms the artistic features that delight a woman."

FOUR MEN DROWNED BY UPSETTING OF A BOAT

Accident Occurred Between Port Huron, Mich., and Samia, Ont.—Three Were Saved.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PORT HURON, MICH., Nov. 24.—The rowboat of William Briggs, ferryman between this city and Sarnia, Ont., was upset near the Sarnia dock early today and four men who were passengers were drowned.

THE DROWNED ARE:

ALFRED GREEN, engineer, St. Thomas, Ont.
JOHN S. CHREENAN, fireman, St. Thomas.
JOHN DACK, brakeman, St. Thomas.
JAMES CONNELL, barkeeper, Sarnia, Ont.

Ferryman Briggs left the Port Huron dock with six passengers in his boat. A heavy sea was running on the river, kicked up by a strong north wind. When within about 100 yards of the Sarnia dock a heavy back swell caught the craft and capsized her. Ferryman Briggs, John Dobson, an engineer of St. Thomas, and Daniel Fisher, a conductor of Ridgetown, Ont., saved themselves by hanging to the overturned boat. The three railroad men drowned were Pere Marquette employes.

Fall Broke Her Leg.

Maggie Henderson of 29 Townsend street was thrown down a flight of stairs at the home of Mary Hamilton, 1498 Clark street, yesterday morning and had her right leg broken. Both women are colored and the police say a fight led to the accident. The woman was removed to Passavant hospital.

TOO WELL FED

Clergyman Not Entirely Sure on That Point.

There is an inclination among the ladies to rather overfeed the Dominie sometimes, and while that indirectly helps the sale of Grape-Nuts, it offers no suitable excuse for the makers to encourage the practice.

A minister of Auburn, Ind., writes: "Whether it was from irregular habits and more or less badly prepared food taken during some of my travels, or whether I have been too well cared for by my parishioners does not seem entirely clear, however, the fact remains that indigestion set in and after a period of hard work I came down with a genuine case of nervous prostration.

"It seems the trouble had been brewing for some years, for several insurance companies had rejected me after careful examination by their physicians.

"I was urged to adopt Grape-Nuts and cream for my sole diet for breakfast and lunch. The request was urged so strongly that I concluded to follow the suggestion, and to my surprise began to gain quickly in health and strength.

"I persisted in the use of this remarkable food and a wonderful result followed. I have entirely regained my health, have been examined by the physician of one of the most conservative insurance companies in America and have been accepted. It seems sufficient evidence of the change that has taken place as a result of the use of Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

INTERESTING, IF TRUE.

You Can Try It For Yourself and Prove It.

One grain of the active principle in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat, eggs or other wholesome food, and this claim has been proven by actual experiment which anyone can perform for himself in the following manner: Cut hard boiled eggs into very small pieces, as it would be if masticated, place the egg and two or three tablets in a bottle or jar containing warm water heated to 98 degrees (the temperature of the body) and keep it at this temperature for three and one-half hours, at the end of which time the egg will be as completely digested as it would have been in the healthy stomach of a hungry boy.

The point of this experiment is that what Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do to the egg in the bottle it will do to the egg or meat in the stomach and nothing else will rest and invigorate the stomach so safely and effectually. Even a little child can take Stuart's Tablets with safety and benefit if its digestion is weak and the thousands of cures accomplished by their regular daily use are easily explained when it is understood that they are composed of vegetable essences, aseptic pepsin, diastase and Golden Seal, which mingles with the food and digests it thoroughly, giving the overworked stomach a chance to recuperate.

Dieting never cures dyspepsia, neither do pills and cathartic medicines, which simply irritate and inflame the intestines.

When enough food is eaten and promptly digested there will be no constipation, nor in fact will there be disease of any kind, because good digestion means good health in every organ.

The merit and success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are world-wide and they are sold at the moderate price of 50 cts. for full-sized package in every drug store in the United States and Canada, as well as in Europe.

PAID TRIBUTE TO OLD HEROES

Patriotic Entertainment Assures a Soldiers' Memorial in Calvary Cemetery.

A PROGRAM OF FINE MUSIC

A patriotic audience in the Pittsburgh Carnegie Music hall last night paid a kindly tribute to the memory of heroes of the civil war and materially aided in the erection of the tardy monument to union soldiers, which has been planned for the public plot in Calvary cemetery. A concert was given under the auspices of the memorial day committee, and the sum which was realized will erase a goodly portion of the indebtedness of the monument.

The entertainment was given under the direction of Thomas F. Kirk, Sr., and the program included vocal and instrumental numbers of rare merit. Prof. Duncan MacGregor delivered an address eulogizing the men who had saved the union, and in spirited fashion called for the present generation not to forget the heroes who had suffered the torments of disease and death in the struggle of the 60's.

There was a good-sized audience, and it was encouraging to the men who have been straining every effort for years to build a suitable memorial on the site which was donated to union soldiers by Calvary cemetery. Work to raise funds by subscription was slow. Andrew Carnegie opened the list with a donation, but others seemed difficult to get. Nearly $1,000 remained to be raised. The monument was purchased and the stone is now upon the cemetery grounds. The soldiers, however, determined not to unveil the shaft until all the money should be subscribed. As a final effort the entertainment in Carnegie hall was proposed and met with success. Many who were liberal purchasers of tickets were unable to be present and some probably did not send proxies, but it was apparent that at last the men who have devoted their time and best energies to the enterprise were meeting the success which had so long been withheld.

Frank J. Totten, chairman of the memorial committee, reviewed the history of the committee's undertaking and presided. The soloists were Edward H. Dermitt, Miss Bess Cunningham, Harold J. Rehill, T. J. Williams, Miss Josephine Auventz, J. A. Adams, Miss Clara McDonald and John M. Bolsson. Mr. MacGregor said in part:

"The soil enriched with the dead of our union struggle is the richest soil on the planet. What is the worth of human sacrifices on the altar of battle? I answer, its value is found in the character and importance of the emoluments it secures to men and history. This is an unalterable, unanswerable law in all history. The heroes of our union struggle fought and died in a halo of light, weaved out of the centuries. What an arena! Paved not alone with blood and bullets and bones, but underneath all that, paved with the bedrock of truth. What an arena! Walled not alone with the blue on the one hand and the gray on the other; walled not alone with lead and iron, that heaved and vomited death upon them, but walled with civilization, a vast sounding-board that echoed every battle stroke to the end of time. What an arena! Canopied not alone with the smoke of battle and the missiles of death, but an arena canopied with the anxious vigils and imploring hands of coming ages. What an arena! Filled with light streaming from the altar fires of all history. Our Union army fought in an atmosphere that vibrated with the touch of a bullet or the sweep of an archangel—an atmosphere where the rippling rills of tears and blood, where the fall of warm, red cataracts, where the groan of the suffering and the shout of the conquering, where the cry of the fainting and the prayer of the dying were reverberated and echoed to the ears of the coming ages.

"Who is he that sits yonder under the sheaves of old Vicksburg, one man in the millions? God placed him there and anchored His Almighty purpose to him. That hero turned his eyes to the dial plate of our union. It was an awful hour. The darkness was gathering. Washington, Philadelphia, New York city were seething cauldrons of excitement. It was the hour of destiny. The great men of the nation looked each other in the eye with the pallor of death upon their faces. Our government was in spasms. This hero turned his eyes again to the dial plate of our union. He saw the hands crawling round toward the midnight hour. He said to the listening nation: 'I can't give up. God help me. Vicksburg must surrender.' He lifted his ponderous determination against the stronghold of Vicksburg. The anxious eyes of the whole world were upon him. He lifted that determination again. It was firmer than the granite of the mighty mound. Once more he dropped his ponderous determination upon the mighty defense and Vicksburg fell. The tides of progress leaped forward in their channels. The pillars of our republic settled upon their abutments, firm and immovable. God cut a new window in the western gable of civilization and the name of U. S. Grant was written upon the brow of the universe to outshine the stars and to outlive the ages."

PAPAL DELEGATES CALL ON CARDINAL GIBBONS

Monsignor Agius, Legate to the Philippines, Will Await Return of Secretary Taft Before Going There.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, Nov. 24.—Monsignor Agius, apostolic delegate to the Philippines, who is in this country en route to Manila, and Monsignor Falconio, apostolic delegate to the United States, accompanied by their respective suites, came over from Washington today to pay their respects to Cardinal Gibbons. The visiting dignitaries were entertained at dinner by his eminence, and later returned to Washington.

Monsignor Agius said it had been his purpose to proceed directly to the Philippines, but he had accepted the advice of President Roosevelt to await the return of Mr. Taft from Panama in order that he might be more fully enlightened by that official concerning conditions in the Philippines. In the meantime Monsignor Agius will probably visit several of the western cities.

LARGE LEGACY AWAITS MISSING SCRANTON MAN

New York Police Are Searching for Eugene S. Dale, Who Disappeared Last Month.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The police of this city have been requested to find Eugene S. Dale of Scranton, Pa., who disappeared here on October 20. His father died in Scranton on October 22, leaving him a large legacy, and the estate cannot be settled until it is known absolutely whether he is alive or dead.

Dale had an engagement to meet H. C. Wallace, a wealthy drygoods merchant of Scranton, now stopping at the Victoria hotel, on October 20. He was seen in that vicinity, but when Wallace arrived, half an hour later, he had gone. Nothing has been heard of him since.

Dale's father was a wealthy brick manufacturer, and was fatally injured in a railroad accident on October 21. His uncle is congressman-elect from the Scranton district.

Carnegie Naturalists' Meeting.

The Andrew Carnegie Naturalists club will hold its regular meeting in the Botany school at Phipps conservatories, Schenley park, tomorrow. The classes will meet at 2 o'clock to begin their course. The regular meeting will commence at 3 o'clock. Every member is expected to be present with a query for the question box and an essay on some subject of interest to the club.

Special Musical Program.

City Orgaist Caspar P. Koch of Allegheny attracted an unusually large crowd last night to Carnegie music hall. A special Thanksgiving day program had been prepared and the entertainment was one of the best heard this season. Mr. Koch was assisted by the Misses Anna and Elizabeth Ebert, violinists, and Mr. Edwin L. Peterson, baritone.

Presented School With Flag.

Liberty Valley Council 311, Senior Order of United American Mechanics, yesterday presented the Wilkins township school with an American flag. Dr. J. M. Dodds of the East End made the presentation. Seventy-five members of the order, headed by a drum corps, marched out from Penn avenue, Wilkinsburg, to the schools at 2:30 p. m.

DRUMMERS FORM PERMANENT CLUB

Homeless Twenty-Six Is Organized by Unfortunates Kept from Own Firesides.

LANDLORD SPREADS REPAST

An organization of drummers was formed at the Colonial hotel yesterday. It was named the "Homeless Twenty-Six," none of the charter members had ever met before. They were all away from their homes and for that reason consider the name appropriate. John O'Keefe of Newark, N. J., was elected president, and John J. Davis of Indianapolis, secretary.

It was through the "spontaneous combustion" of sympathy for the unfortunates who were not privileged to enjoy a Thanksgiving dinner with their families that F. C. Smith, proprietor of the Colonial, planned the organization. He suggested that if any number of his guests would band together he would prepare a special menu on the same plan and quality that a wife prepares for the family. Mr. O'Keefe and Mr. Davis took kindly to the proposition and startd out to secure 12 guests to dine as a party.

This was shortly before the lunch hour. When the news spread that an effort was being made to have a family menu served, within an hour 26 were pledged to participate. Mr. Smith kept his word, and a more appetizing dinner could not be served by any housewife or French chef.

A 26-pound turkey graced the table. Before lunch was over it was decided to formally organize a club. When the roll was called every man stated his name, business, married or single. The roll showed 20 were married, and six single. After the club was organized and officers elected a resolution was passed that the same 26 meet yearly at the Colonial on Thanksgiving, and should any of the members die or are compelled by circumstances to leave the club his place can be filled by a new member.

Oratory was next in order and President O'Keefe gave a toast on "Our President." "Absent Ones from Home" was responded to by John J. Davis; "Meet on the square and depart on the level," was the toast responded to by F. O. Cox. "How we miss mother, wife and sweetheart," was handled by George A. Eberling. "The Drummer" was the subject of George W. Mason. Mr. Smith was called into the meeting and presented with resolutions of thanks, and Frank Mangiss, assistant manager, also received special thanks. Those present were:

John O'Keefe, Newark; F. O. Cox, Indianapolis; S. H. Ritch, Philadelphia; George W. Eberling, New York; A. Sweede, Philadelphia; F. H. Gallagher, Harrisburg; Charles F. Wolfe, New York; George W. Mason, York; A. W. Smenner, Cincinnati; Gilbert Daniels, Baltimore; John J. Munzer, Denver; Leslie D. Fritz, New York; John J. Davis, Indianapolis; Meyer Cohen, Allegheny; S. J. Poole, Pittsburgh; Charles Mathias, Indianapolis; O. M. Williams, New York; J. H. Pelmer, New York; F. H. Swick, Buffalo; C. A. Fenton, Chicago; L. Goodman, New York, and G. Daniels, Baltimore.

STEVENSON SAYS HE IS NOT A CANDIDATE

Orphan Leader Claims He Is Not Seeking a Nomination for Mayor.

William H. Stevenson, manager of the Orphans party, has issued a statement in which he says he is not a candidate for mayor. He says:

"So far as I am personally concerned, I am not seeking nor do I want the office, and to my knowledge there is not a member of the Orphans central committee seeking political honors. As to the election boards, we have made no deals. We want a fair count and will indorse the best men when we find them."

The Citizens do not take kindly to the Orphans suggestion of making a fight for election boards and school directors. They think for their support of Larkin for controller, the Orphans should leave the making of the ward and district tickets to the Citizens and Democrats.

The Orphans are proceeding on the plan of compelling the Citizens to go along. They argue there is nothing left to the city administration but to help Larkin, and it should be thankful. Regardless of the Stevenson statement, it is the intention of the Orphans to figure in the mayoralty campaign. If he is not the candidate, some representative of the crowd that was pushed out of the Citizens party will be nominated for mayor. For this reason there is a desire to control some election boards. The Citizens had not expected this, for Mayor Hays has said: "The control of the boards was the most important consideration in our indorsement of Larkin."

CUT THE COLLECTOR.

John Delmont Is Alleged to Have Slashed Paul Conroy.

John Delmont, aged 28, of 71 Washington street cut Paul Conroy at Third avenue and Grant street last night about 10 o'clock. Conroy was removed to the Homeopathic hospital and Delmont was taken to the central station by Policeman Edward Hughes.

Conroy went to a house in Third avenue to collect a bill and was met by Delmont at the door. The latter became abusive when he learned Conroy's business and attempted to throw him off the steps. Conroy resisted and Delmont drew a razor and cut him across the throat.

Retail Druggists Organize.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The Fayette County Retail Druggists' association was organized here last night with 15 charter members. The following officers were elected: President, J. K. Ritenour, Uniontown; vice president, Leslie D. Jones, Uniontown; secretary, Frank B. Graham, Connellsville; treasurer, A. A. Clarke of Connellsville. There are 46 retail druggists in Fayette county and all have signified their intention of becoming members.

TEACHERS STAY AWAY FROM THE INSTITUTE

McKeesport Educators Would Not Lose Their Thanksgiving Holiday.

McKeesport school teachers revolted yesterday against the orders of Superintendent J. B. Richey that they must attend the morning sessions of the annual institute, after which they would be excused for the remainder of the day. The result was that fully half of the entire corps remained away from the lectures given yesterday morning by the high priced instructors. Superintendent Richey sat upon the platform and carefully noted the absent ones, and it is possible their names will be referred to the school board with a recommendation that their day's pay be withheld at the end of the month.

The morning session was devoted to lectures by Dr. M. V. O'Shea, T. M. Balliet and H. S. Albrose. The devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. Dr. J. A. Maxwell, pastor of the First Baptist church. Special musical numbers were given by Prof. Samuel Hemmingrat and Miss Anna G. Clark of Allegheny.

The teachers were dismissed at 11 o'clock by Superintendent Richey with words of special thanks to those who had regarded his wishes in the matter of attendance.

Last night Prof. Samuel Hamilton, superintendent of county schools, delivered a lecture at the high school on "The Home and the Schools."

Say He Broke Car Windows.

Robert Ward of 213 Shetland avenue was arrested by Special Officer Robert Wood of the East Liberty police station on a Frankstown avenue car near Station street at 6:30 o'clock last night. Ward was charged with disorderly conduct and is said to have got into an altercation with the conductor with the result that several car windows were broken.

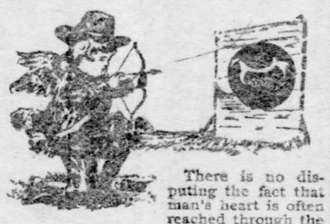
WOOD AND FIFTH.



There is no disputing the fact that man's heart is often reached through the stomach. Happy the housewife who can please her husband's appetite with well cooked food for the table. Many a man is grouchy, ugly, nervous, suffering from distress after eating, heart palpitation, and all through the overworked stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which helps the digestion of food in the stomach, assists the blood in taking up the proper elements from the food, helps the liver into activity, thereby throwing out the poisons in the blood and vitalizing the whole system. This assimilation helps in the oxidation of the red blood corpuscles, the poisons in the system are eliminated, the heart gets the right kind of blood and the person feels invigorated and stronger in consequence. As a tissue builder it is far preferable to cod liver oil or any alcoholic compounds or tonics, because it gives the blood and the tissues the food elements they require and maintains a person's nutrition by enabling him to eat, retain, digest and assimilate nutritious food. It overcomes the gastric irritability and symptoms of indigestion. Because of the good effects from using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery upon nutrition and the building up of the tissues, catarrh, consumption, weakness or debility and symptoms of fever, night-sweats, headaches, etc., disappear.

"I believe that it is generally conceded that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine for a man to take suffering from indigestion, kidney trouble, or any of the afflictions resulting from overwork or neglecting a cold," writes J. Russell Hill, of 332 Barrie Street, Kingston, Ontario, Recording Secretary Imperial Knights' Federation League of Kingston. "I have used it several times during the past few years and have always found that it gave me immediate relief. It expels excessive uric acid in the system, due to improper digestion, relieves the kidneys from congestion, drives headache and backache away, induces appetite and tones up the general system. I consider it a fine remedy for young or old men, sure to build up a run-down condition of the system."

REV. DR. PATTON OPPOSES UNION

President of Princeton Theological Seminary Delivers a Sensational Sermon.

RELIGION NEEDED BY NATION

The Rev. Dr. Francis L. Patton, president of Princeton Theological seminary, preached yesterday morning in the Third Presbyterian church to a congregation crowding the church, made up of representative ministers and laymen from all parts of the two cities. As was expected he opened the active campaign against union with the Cumberland Presbyterian church.

Dr. Patton preached from the words, "If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness?" He said:

The minister is the attorney general of God Almighty, charged with the commission of presenting the claims of eternal truth in relation to the common things of life. He holds a brief for the supernatural. Some say that a minister must not touch secular things. I do not agree with them. It is his business to do what he can to bring men in their every thought into captivity and obedience to Christ. "What is truth?" asked jesting Pilate, and he did not wait for an answer. If he had waited until today he would have got the answer from Chicago or from Oxford—"Any old thing is truth that works, that satisfies, that meets the exigency." They say, "You can convince a man if he will only be respectable and listen." But he does not listen. If you cannot convince the one obstinate man on a jury, what is your argument worth? If Kruger could only have foreseen, do you think he would have declared war? If the Church of Scotland could have foreseen the action of the house of lords, do you think they would have gone into the union?

Bad Conscience a Blind Guide.

The worst thing that can happen to a man is to have a bad conscience. It is a blind guide leading him astray. Our Lord says we are the light of the world. If the world is ever to have a high ideal it must get it from the church. If men are ever to be lifted above the level of selfish desires, it is when they come into the house of God. The church has become corrupt in times past, and why not again? The rank and file think very much as their leaders. We are a gregarious people and go like a flock of sheep, men and women alike, and when the church follows blind guides, and the blind lead the blind, both fall into the ditch. You and I belong to the Presbyterian church, a great church with a great history—great moral and missionary history—a history which has marked the progress of this continent.

In 1789, when the general assembly was formed, there was no geology upon which to found attacks on the creation, no archaeology to upset early records, no higher criticism, no biology to attack statements as to the Garden of Eden, no sociology to make up a little sentiment to take the place of the old gospel. I often wonder how the old preachers got along when they had no telegraph wires nor wireless telegrams, when wars were fought and ended before they heard of them, and they had nothing to preach but the old, fundamental gospel of Jesus Christ. But I had rather preach today, with its magnificent opportunities, when we stand face to face with great problems. There was a division in '37 on psychological lines, but the gravitating influence of good fellowship brought us together in 1870.

This movement for union goes on and people are making less of doctrine than polity, and they say, what is the difference, if we can come together. And the movement is for union, not with a Calvanistic body—not at all—but with an Armenian body. They say there is not enough difference between this Calvanistic confession of yours and that Armenian confession to keep the two bodies apart, and they say, "Come together and disregard the difference, and unite on the basis of evangelical faith."

When this comes about, how much broader do you want to be?

Defections in All Churches.

You are morally committed to a polity that will embrace Armenianism. Great movements are going on—don't you forget it. I know what I am talking about. We are in danger of great defections in the Methodist church; in the Episcopal church, in the Congregational church, in the Baptist church, and in the Presbyterian church—don't you forget it.

We have the hard proposition—on the one side, old-fashioned, prayer meeting, monthly concert, Sabbath observance religion, and on the other side, out-and-out unmitigated rationalism. Men are saying this old-fashioned religion is what they want, and must hold on to, but there are intellectual difficulties, and they fear the stress and struggle, and say, "We will take the middle of the road."

When the great defection comes in all the churches, out of this storm and struggle a new church may arise. Before we go much farther the time may come when the remnants of the faithful will come out and reorganize. When you get down to mere emotional subjectivity I will come around some Monday morning and ask you to let me have that subjectivity and send it off to have it analyzed by some professor of psychology, and I think you will not like to see the color of it.

In the nation the rank and file follow the lead of the ministers, professors, editors, and if you tell what these say, I will make a confession of faith. What the rich do the poor feel they have a right to do. The hope of the nation is not in big armies, big navies, new markets, but in righteousness. Men claim that they are of Puritan ancestry who have very little of the Puritan about them. Their fathers ate baked beans in the wilderness and they fare sumptuously every day. They struggle for wealth, fame, position. The important thing is to build up the income to the expenses and to cut down the expenses to the income. Men are robbing the individual to build up the corporation. There is hardly anything in use any more which is not made by a trust.

Darkness is bad enough, but blindness is far worse. What is needed is conscience in the individual, in the church and in the nation.

SOCIETY

VERY quietly and with only the immediate relatives of the two families and a few intimate friends of the bridal couple as witnesses, the marriage of Miss Rebecca Beall Oliver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David B. Oliver, and John Henley Ross of Madison, N. J., was solemnized last evening at 6:30 o'clock. The ceremony was conducted at the home of the bride's parents in Vernon avenue, Allegheny, the Rev. Robert Mesech, rector of Christ Protestant Episcopal church, officiating. The bride was given away by her father and had as her attendants two sisters, Miss Mildred Oliver and Miss Virginia Oliver. Otto Ross of Madison was his brother's best man, while Robert W. B. Elliott of New York city and John C. Oliver, a brother of the bride, acted as ushers.

The bride's gown was beautifully fashioned of white chiffon taffeta with trimmings of point applique. Orange blossoms fastened her tulle veil and she carried a white prayer book, the gift of Mr. Ross. The bridesmaids wore gowns of white net, one over yellow silk and the other over pink, and each carried white chrysanthemums to match the slip over which her gown was hung. The decorations were very simple but effective, the mantels in the different rooms being banked with ferns and tropical plants. Pink roses were used in the library and yellow roses on the bridal table, at which covers were laid for 12. At each side of the two mantels in the drawing room where the ceremony was performed were tall wicker standards crowned with bunches of yellow chrysanthemums.

The out-of-town guests, in addition to the two in the bridal party, included Mrs. H. L. Ross, mother of the bridegroom, and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Rodgers of Madison, N. J., his brother-in-law and sister. After their wedding trip Mr. Ross and his bride will live in Madison, where they have announced days at home after January 1. The bridegroom is a well-known artist and for a time was instructor in the Pittsburgh Art league.

The bride was given away by her father. The bridesmaid was a sister, Miss Margaret Hegnar, and the best man was William Knipers. The ushers were George Hegnar, Jr., Anthony J. Reception at "Lyndhurst."

Although the weather was somewhat unpleasant it interfered in no wise with the reception given by Mrs. Thaw at "Lyndhurst" last evening to meet the Rev. Dr. Francis L. Patton, president of Princeton seminary. The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Thaw and Dr. William L. McEwan, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, who introduced the guest of honor. Dr. Patton came to Pittsburgh yesterday morning to preach the sermon at the morning service in the Third church. He has many friends in the city, as he filled Dr. McEwan's pulpit during the latter's vacation this summer and also dedicated the church a little over a year ago. The hostess last evening was assisted by the wives of the members of the faculty of the Western Theological seminary, Mrs. Robert Christy, Mrs. David R. Breed, Mrs. David S. Schaff, Mrs. Matthew B. Riddle and Mrs. David Gregg, and also by Miss McEwan, Dr. McEwan's sister. The decorations were unusually beautiful, each room being filled with the fragrance of exquisite floral pieces sent to the host and hostess by their sons and daughters. The favors were small boxes of bon bons surmounted by bunches of artificial grapes. The guests in addition to the children and grandchildren at present in the city included Mrs. Samuel McKee and Mrs. Alexander King, old friends of the family. Both Judge and Mrs. Mellon are now in unusually good health.

GREAT EXPORTS FROM PITTSBURGH

Sent 38,000 Tons of Steel Products to Foreign Markets in October.

RAIL SHIPMENTS INCREASED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.

Almost 38,000 tons of steel billets, rails, beams, bars, hoops, iron pipe, wire and wire nails made in various of the plants located in Pittsburgh and vicinity of the United States Steel Corporation were exported to different parts of the world last month through New York and other eastern seaboard points. The imports of iron ore, pig iron and miscellaneous iron and steel material, during a similar period, aggregated a shade over 38,000 tons.

Sixteen thousand and five tons of steel billets were sent abroad in October. During September there were 18,964 tons exported. Last month's shipments went principally to English ports, in all a total of 12,965 tons for England. To Wales, 3,040 tons were forwarded.

The October exports of steel rails amounted to 9,803 tons, against 8,499 tons for the previous month. Two thousand five hundred and eighteen tons went to Europe last month, 1,933 tons having been shipped to ports in the United Kingdom, while 585 tons went to Continental Europe. One thousand eight hundred and eighty-five tons went to South American ports. The largest rail shipment for the month went to Cuba, to which 3,424 tons were forwarded.

The steel plate exports last month represented 2,745 tons. British ports were shipped 2,142 tons. Three hundred and eighty tons in one shipment went to Japan, while Singapore and Bombay were shipped single lots of 158 tons and 65 tons respectively. The export of steel bars amounted to 704 tons, 56 tons having been sent to Copenhagen and 22 tons to London and 626 tons to Bombay.

One hundred and sixty-eight tons of steel beams went forward to Bombay and Sydney, the Indian port having been shipped 96 tons, while 72 tons went to the Australian port. Dublin was sent 152 tons of steel hoops last month and 65 tons went to Bombay.

The exports of wire, wire nails and pipe during October amounted to 8,349 tons. In September they aggregated somewhat more than 9,000 tons. Four thousand six hundred and forty-four tons went abroad last month. Australia was the largest purchaser, 2,207 tons in six lots having been shipped to various points.

The total shipments to Europe were 481 tons. The exports to continental Europe went all to Scandinavia. Two hundred and twenty-nine tons in two lots went to South Africa. Mexico took 167 tons in four shipments. Japan was shipped 195 tons in two lots, while consignments were also made to Malta, Bombay and Singapore.

The wire nail exports made up a total of 1,759 tons last month. During September they amounted to 1,282 tons. The principal shipments during last month went to Europe and Japan.

The iron pipe exports in October aggregated 1,946 tons, as compared with 3,114 tons for September. The chief shipments during last month went to continental Europe, 740 tons going to Antwerp in two lots, while a similar number of shipments amounting to 593 tons went to Rotterdam. The total exports to the continent were 1,468 tons. To British ports, 229 tons were forwarded. One hundred and ten tons went to Japan, and lots under 100 tons each were shipped to Mexico, Genoa, Australia and Chile.

The imports of iron ore, pig iron and miscellaneous iron and steel material are rapidly dwindling. Some two years ago they averaged about 150,000 tons monthly. The iron ore imported last month aggregated but 33,526 tons.

The miscellaneous iron and steel imported represented but 1,253 tons in October, while only 1,546 tons of pig iron came in, mostly from Liverpool. No chrome or manganese ores were imported last month.

INCREASED VALUE IN MINERAL OIL

Larger Returns from Export Trade, Though the Quantity Is Less.

ABOUT $80,000,000 FOR YEAR

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 19, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 24.

Exports of mineral oils from the United States promise to exceed in value $75,000,000 in the calendear year 1904. Ten months' figures just presented by the department of commerce and labor through its bureau of statistics show a total value of mineral oil exported at $66,000,000, speaking in round terms, which is a larger total in value than in the corresponding months of any preceding year, though in quantity the total is less than that of the corresponding months of 1901 or 1902. In five of the 10 months of the present year for which figures are now available, the value of mineral oil exported has exceeded $7,000,000 per month, while prior to December, 1903, the value of mineral oil exports seldom, if ever, reached so much as $7,000,000 in any month.

Should the value of the exports of November and December run as high as that of the months of September and October the total exportation of mineral oil for the year would reach $80,000,000, against $72,000,000 in the fiscal year 1904, and will exceed by $4,000,000 the record of any earlier year.

The total quantity of mineral oil exported in the 10 months ending with October, 1904, is 823,000,000 gallons, against 872,000,000 in the corresponding months of 1902 and 874,000,000 in the corresponding months of 1901; but the value exported is $10,000,000 in excess of that for the corresponding period of 1901.

Should the present rate of exportation continue during the remainder of the calendar year the total quantity exported during the calendar year would exceed 1,000,000,000 gallons and the value exceed $80,000,000, or an average of about 8 cents per gallon for the total exportation. Of the 823,000,000 gallons exported in the 10 months ending with October, 629,000,000 was illuminating oil, 31,000,000 crude oil, 62,000,000 lubricating and paraffin, 17,000,000 napthas, and 26,000,000 residuum. Of the 629,000,000 gallons of illuminating oil exported during the 10 months, 367,000,000, or more than one-half was shipped from the port of New York, 213,000,000 from Philadelphia, 30,000,000 from Baltimore, and 18,000,000 from Galveston. The exportation of mineral oil from Galveston is of recent development, the total number of gallons exported in the 10 months of 1903 having been less than 3,000,000 gallons and over 18,000,000 in the corresponding 10 months of the present year.

In distribution, a much larger share of the mineral oils exported goes to Europe than is generally recognized in view of the frequent statement that mineral oils form so large a share in exports from the United States to the Orient. Of the 700,000,000 gallons of refined mineral oil exported in 1903, 150,000,000, speaking in round terms, went to the United Kingdom alone, 116,000,000 to Netherlands, and 111,000,000 to Germany; while the total to all Europe amounted to 500,000,000 gallons, leaving but 200,000,000 for distribution to all other parts of the world. Of this total less than 100,000,000 went to Asia, 43,000,000 to South America, 25,000,000 to North America, 25,000,000 to Oceania, and about 14,000,000 to Africa.

Comparing exports with production it may be added that the remarkable growth in exportation has been fully justified by production in the United States, which has grown from 21,000,000 gallons in 1869 to 220,000,000 in 1870, 1,104,000,000 in 1880, 1,924,000,000 in 1890, 2,061,000,000 in 1900, and 4,219,000,000 in 1903, according to the preliminary figures of the geological survey.

Quarreled With Wife; Took Poison.

LISBON, O., Nov. 24.—Coroner Dr. J. Jones of this city was in Columbiana today and at an inquest over the body of Charles C. Flickinger, who was found dead in his home there, rendered a verdict of suicide by taking carbolic acid. Flickinger, who was about 50 years old, had a quarrel with his wife last Saturday, after which she went to Leetsdale, Pa. He had been dead at least 24 hours when the body was found. The deceased was formerly a freight brakeman on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago railroad.

W. U. P. BEAT STATE, BUT HER GOAL LINE WAS CROSSED

STATE OUTPLAYED BY W. U. P. ELEVEN

Mosse's Pupils Make 22 Points While Centre County Boys Get But One Touchdown.

JUD. SCHMIDT IS A STAR

Touchdowns, first half—Schmidt 2, Mehl. Goals—Edgar 2. Second half—Mehl, Magee. Referee—E. P. Young, Cornell. Umpire—McCracken, U. of P. Time—Thirty-five minute halves.

The Pennsylvania State college eleven was torn to pieces yesterday afternoon by the Western University of Pennsylvania at Exposition park, losing by a score of 22 to 5.

State was outplayed in almost every department, and from the start it was patent that victory would perch on the banner of the Pittsburghers.

It was the greatest victory a W. U. P. eleven ever achieved and before the largest crowd. There were 5,000 persons at the game, but this does not come near the record attendance W. & J. drew with D. C. and A. C. in 1897, when over 17,000 people turned out.

The game yesterday was a spectacular one in many respects, and all of the W. U. P. touchdowns were made well earned except possibly the third of the first half, when McIlveen lost the ball on a fumble near his goal line and Jud Schmidt soon after waded through for a touchdown.

The team work of the W. U. P. eleven was fine, and combined with this feature it had the forwards to hold well, while State, which played football that would be about the caliber of a big prep school team, was not so lucky in regaining fumbles.

The State line was totally unable to withstand the rushes, and it wavered on almost every assault against it. In the second half State held for downs, but it was the first time during the contest that W. U. P. had to surrender the ball in that way.

State had a weakened team, it must be said. Capt. Forkum and Moscrip, two of the very best ground gainers, and Campbell, were unable to start in the game.

Moorheads Great Nerve.

Early in the first half Smith and Yeckley, the latter acting captain, were both compelled to retire to the side lines. Cal Moorhead, the right end, played out the game with a splintered shoulder, which he received in the Geneva game a week ago.

Moorhead displayed great grit, and he, with McIlveen, were the best performers on the State team. Quarterback Saunders, who shone in the W. & J. game here some time ago, was not in good form, and he used poor judgment at times in running the team.

W. U. P. scored three touchdowns in the first half, and Edgar kicked two goals, and in the next session Mehl made a touchdown, but Edgar missed goal. State scored in the second half after substitutes had been put in the game by W. U. P.

The contest was attended by considerable college enthusiasm. In the right field bleachers the W. U. P. students, 500 strong, were seated with a band, and in the grandstand, on the east side, the State students, alumni and friends were located with the State Cadets band of 32 pieces. Before it was time to call the game rain was falling, but not heavily, and the prediction was made that mass plays and much fumbling would result. The rain stopped, leaving the field in fair condition. There were mass plays, and there were open ones as well, and in many fakes with excellent punting by Schmidt and McIlveen, with honors even.

W. U. P. First on Field.

The W. U. P. team, with Capt. Thompson at the head, appeared on the field at 2:25. They received a stormy reception. The W. U. P. band was rendering music when the State band appeared in the grandstand. Instantly there was a duel, State band being smothered by the W. U. P.'s playing "The Gang is All Here." State won the next duel and then its team ran on the field and it, too, was given a great reception.

Zeig for W. U. P. kicked off to State, who had won the toss and elected to defend the west goal.

McIlveen took the punt on the 10-yard line and got back 35 yards before Thompson hauled him down in the open field. McIlveen, on the first trial, gained two yards on the line and Yeckley one. Then McIlveen punted to Thompson on the 15-yard line. Thompson ran back the punt 40 yards. Mehl, Schmidt and Thompson began an assault on the line and carried the ball past midfield. Schmidt got around the end for 18 yards, but he was called back because of holding and penalized five yards.

A fake kick got three yards, and again the hammering was continued, the attacks being centered on the line mostly. On State's 35-yard line Mehl took the ball on a double pass and ran 30 yards, putting it on State's five-yard line. Saunders backed him by the leg. Schmidt hit the line for three yards and Mehl placed it just one foot from the goal line.

Schmidt Makes Touchdown.

Schmidt was given the ball for a try against State's left side of the line and he ran through for the first touchdown. Edgar kicked goal. The W. U. P. rooters made merry and to the tune of "Meet Me at St. Louis, Louis," sang:

This is only the beginning,
Touchdown number one,
Wait until our boys are playing,
Then you'll see the fun.

McIlveen kicked off to Thompson on the 10-yard line and the W. U. P. captain ran it back 15 yards. The State line braced and in midfield Schmidt punted to McIlveen on State's 20-yard line. McIlveen fumbled but regained, although without gain. East and Ferry were down the field like hares and East nailed his man.

On the very first try McIlveen dropped the ball and on the 19-yard line W. U. P. got it. Mehl tore through to the 15-yard line and Schmidt placed it on the 10-yard mark.

At this stage Acting Captain Yeckley was injured and retired in favor of Partridge. Mehl tore through State's left guard and tackle for a touchdown. Edgar kicked goal.

After this touchdown and an exchange of punts, after each side had advanced the ball on rushes, W. U. P. had possession of the pigskin on its 32-yard line.

Schmidt broke through the center of the line and ran 67 yards, McIlveen bringing him down. Schmidt had practically no assistance after getting in the open. He eluded the men in the back field, but McIlveen ran him down.

Schmidt Again Scores.

From the three-yard line, where Mehl and Schmidt had taken it, Schmidt again scored a touchdown by getting through State's line at right guard and tackle. Edgar missed goal.

The half closed soon after and the W. U. P. students sang to the tune of "Jeff Davis:"

O' State college you've met your Waterloo.
You're up against the real thing, the gold and blue,
You'll be on the bum for fair when Wup gets through with you,
When Wup gets through with you.
Here's to Western Pennsylvania,
Here's to Western Pennsylvania,
Here's to Western Pennsylvania,
Hurrah, Hurrah for Wup!

Spectacular runs marked the opening of the second half. Thompson caught one of McIlveen's punts on the 15-yard line and ran it back to the 45 mark, going through the broken field. McIlveen tackling him near the side lines. Thompson was sent around the end for 25 yards and then Schmidt, with excellent interference, ran 35 yards, putting the ball on the four-yard line. Mehl was forced through the line for a touchdown and Edgar missed goal. The score was now: W. U. P. 22, State 0, and the joy among the W. U. P. adherents was correspondingly great.

W. U. P. began to send in substitutes and State held for downs on W. U. P.'s 40-yard line. State, from this point, carried the ball down the field and across W. U. P.'s goal line, Magee taking it over. McIlveen, Partridge and Moorhead were used in carrying the ball.

Moorhead punted out to the 18-yard line, but Hoehart missed the trial for goal. W. U. P. called on McCornick to punt the ball out of danger after the kick-off when being held, but the punt was a poor one and it went out of bounds at the 33-yard line.

State took the ball to the 12-yard line, where it was lost on a fumble. On the first line-up Ritchie ran around the end 30 yards, McIlveen again bringing him down. After one scrimmage time was up.

W. U. P. lost 35 yards by penalties to State's five. The State team was inferior to W. U. P. yesterday, so that it is hard to pick out any individuals that starred for the gold and blue, but much credit must be given East and Ferry, the ends.

DICKINSON WINS GAME FROM WASH-JEFF 10 TO 6

Carlisle Collegians Show Superior Form in First Half and Get Good Lead.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Washington and Jefferson lost today at football to Dickinson college 10 to 6. Crushed by a superior foe in the earlier stages of the contest the Red and Black players put up a magnificent game toward the end of the battle and managed to score on their swifter opponents.

W. and J. was outplayed by the Carlisle team in the first half, when it scored a touchdown, but failed to kick the goal, and the half ended with a score of 5 to 0. In the second half each team scored one touchdown. A defeat was a surprise to the followers of W. and J., who had looked for a victory by at least two touchdowns. Dickinson scored the first touchdown in rapid style, pushing the oval across the line 11 minutes after the kick-off.

In the second half W. and J. outplayed the visiting team, but poor tactics at crucial periods and too much anxiety at times when gains meant downs, resulting in penalizations, gave the visitors another score and lost Washington and Jefferson the game.

The W. and J. line was superior to Dickinson's, but the ends and backs were greatly inferior and this practically tells the story of the game. Washington and Jefferson could advance the ball but feebly during the first half, when its plays were interrupted by fierce tackles of Dickinson and frequent punting compelled. Dickinson managed to score both touchdowns on brilliant end runs followed by splendid line bucking.

Both teams played well on the defensive and repeatedly stopped plunges at their lines which seemingly were good for long gains. Dickinson showed much better interference work than Washington and Jefferson and ran the local's end for long gains. These long runs usually brought the ball close to the W. and J. goal line and then, aided by penalizations, the ball was pushed across.

The game was a dirty one for the most part and many blows were exchanged between opposing players. Sutter, the W. and J. center, was kicked and hit in the head until, bleeding profusely from a dozen injuries, he was carried off the field in a semi-conscious condition. It was after this, however, that W. and J. scored, the foul tactics of the Dickinson team spurring them to determined action. W. and J. tried her end plays time and again, but found they could not gain, and then began hammering Dickinson's line whenever they secured the ball. This resulted finally in a touchdown and the kicking of goal. Had W. and J. tried the same tactics earlier in the contest it is believed it would have won. The line-up:

Dickinson—10.		W. and J.—6.

OHIO NORTHERN'S BIG SCORE.

Physicians and Surgeons of Chicago Are Beaten by Ada Eleven 151 Points to 0.

ADA, O., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—One of the biggest surprises of the season was sprung this afternoon when the Physicians and Surgeons team of Chicago, which recently held Illinois to the score of 26 to 0, met defeat by the Ohio Northern eleven, 151 to 0. The first touchdown was secured after three minutes of playing by Geiger in a brilliant end run. The P. and S. were out-generaled at every point and pronounced the Northern team to be the equal of any of the western teams.

Michigan defeated the P. and S. 72 to 0 at the first of the season. Enthusiasm was high at the university this evening and the most conservative are claiming the state championship for Ohio Northern. This closes the season at Ohio Northern, with a record of 407 per cent in her favor as against 87, the heaviest average in the state. Lineup:

LAFAYETTE BEAT LEHIGH.

Score Was Even in First Half, But the Second Was One-Sided.

EASTON, PA., Nov. 24.—The Lafayette football team defeated Lehigh this afternoon by the score of 40 to 6. The first half was productive of only one football, each side scoring six points. In the second half, however, Lafayette braced up and tore her old rival to pieces, scoring almost at will. The game brought out the largest crowd that has ever been on March field, fully 10,000 persons being present. The scoring in the first half was done on clever line plunges and end runs by both sides. The second half was a complete reversal of this style of game, and from the start Lafayette began scoring and stuck to it until the whistle was blown. Shuster kicked a field goal from the 25-yard line. The lineup:

Lafayette—40.		Lehigh—6.

YECKLEY CHOSEN CAPTAIN OF STATE FOR NEXT YEAR

The State players last night elected Edgar Yeckley, left half back, captain of next year's team. Yeckley lives at DuBois, Pa., and is now in his junior year. His election was unanimous. Yeckley also plays on the basketball team.

At the close of yesterday's game Capt. Joe Thompson of W. U. P. ran off the field, pursued by McIlveen of the State eleven. Thompson sought refuge behind Coach Mosse, and McIlveen struck at him, but missed. They were separated. Last night it was explained that McIlveen had accused Thompson of holding and was angry.

Cal. Moorhead said last night State had played entirely too many hard games this season. The team yesterday, he said, was not in fit condition, experiencing a slump.

JOE THOMPSON RE-ELECTED CAPTAIN OF W. U. P. TEAM

Joe Thompson was unanimously re-elected captain of the W. U. P. team for next year last night at a dinner given the team at the Union club. Thompson is given much credit for helping Coach Mosse turn out a winning team.

PULLIAM IS PREPARING FOR LEAGUE MEETING

Baseball Leader Came Here to See Football Game—Deacon Phillippe Back from the West.

Among the spectators at the W. U. P.-State football contest yesterday was President Harry Pulliam, who made the trip from New York just to see the game. Relative to baseball, the leader of the National league said there was nothing new and that he was putting in his spare time getting ready for the annual meeting of the league, which will be held in New York next month.

The late season, he said, was one of the most successful in the history of the league, and there will be little for the club owners to fuss over when they get into session. Of course there may be some talk over rule changes, but that is a matter for the rules committee, and from present indications very few changes, if any, will be made, as the present rules seem to please the patrons of the game. From here Pulliam will go to Philadelphia to witness the Army and Navy football game tomorrow. Pulliam had nothing to say as to any probable changes in the Philadelphia club.

Another spectator at the game was Deacon Phillippe, who has just returned from a month's visit to his home in Redfield, N. D. Phillippe says he has fully recovered from the illness which impaired his work all of last season, and he looks the part. It is his present intention to spend a month or more in the woods with Hans Wagner as a side partner in a chase after game, and later he will go with Hans to Mt. Clemens, where they will loll out and get ready for an active season on the diamond next year.

MIDDIES' FINAL PRACTICE.

Players in Fine Shape and Team Will Average 169 Pounds.

ANNAPOLIS, MD., Nov. 24.—The Navy football players today had their last practice on the home grounds prior to their contest with the Army at Philadelphia on Saturday. Forty-five minutes were devoted to signal work during the forenoon, after which the men took it easy during the rest of the day.

The team will leave for Philadelphia tomorrow morning and a little line-up will be formed in order to get accustomed to Franklin field. The average weight of the team is 168 pounds, but the coaches will not announce the individual weights. The football squad will stop at the Normandy while in Philadelphia and will be in charge of Head Coach Paul Dashiel.

PITTSBURGH WINS BY TOUCHDOWN

East End Lyceum Lose Game, 5 to 0—Crowd Cause of Contest Being Stopped.

COACH BIRD DOES WELL

The Pittsburgh Lyceum eleven won from its rival, the East End Lyceum, yesterday afternoon at Friendship park, 5 to 0. The argument was attended by over 3,000 people, who played a very important part in the game.

Near the end of the first half Quinlan of Pittsburgh was shoved over the line for a touchdown, and the try for goal was missed. The first half was played in the prescribed time of 30 minutes, but the second was called after 17 minutes of play because of the crowd getting on the field and refusing to leave.

The teams played a close game, the longest run being for 10 yards, and both sides were slow in running back punts. The players on both teams paid attention to the game, but the spectators had lots of fun scrapping and crowding on the field. The two policemen, hired by the managers of the teams, were unable to check the flow of the crowd on the field, and several times the game had to be stopped to clear the gridiron. Once a policeman got into an auto and tried to get the crowd off, but to no avail.

In the second half the crowd got on the field and would not leave and the game was called. Coach Bird of the Pittsburgh Lyceum played in the second half and did well. The line-up:

E. E. Lyceum—0.		Pittsburgh Lyceum—5.
Nafr	R. E.	Gillespie
Black	R. T.	Seaman
Eckley	R. G.	Kenna
Bloom	C.	Edkins

SCORES BY THE MINUTE.

Latrobe's Eleven Run Away from the Kittanning Team.

LATROBE, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—A regular avalanche, 53 to 0, tells the tale of Kittanning's defeat at the hands of Latrobe's champion team. It just took one minute to score. Long runs by Bowman, Brallier and the line bucking by Hayes and Burrell were principal features of the game. CORNELL IS EASY FOR THE QUAKERS

Penn Plays Great Football and Scores Six Touchdowns on Eleven from Ithaca.

CHAMPIONSHIP IS CLAIMED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24.—As a fitting close to the most successful football season in her football history the University of Pennsylvania pounded out a decisive victory over the eleven from Cornell on Franklin field this afternoon with the final score of 34 to 0.

Never once during the 70 minutes of play was there even a glimmer of hope for the Cornellians, and only for a few moments early in the second half did they menace the Quakers' uncrossed goal line.

The Pennsylvania team of 1904 has done what no other Red and Blue eleven ever did by going through the season not only with a clean record of victories, but with the only score against them a goal from field, kicked by the diminutive Crowell of Swarthmore from the 48-yard line. As a result Pennsylvania students are tonight claiming the eastern intercollegiate championship.

Starting with a touchdown within five minutes after the first kick-off, the Quakers showed their Cornell rivals no mercy and piled up three more scores before the end of the first half. For 15 minutes in the second half the Red and Blue eleven stumbled, walking up to find the desperate chance within 20 yards of the sacred goal line and apparently on the march to a touchdown. Then it was that the Quakers came out of their trance and although weakened by many substitutes tore Cornell to shreds and in the remaining time scored twice again.

Penn Makes Six Touchdowns.

Pennsylvania scored four touchdowns in the first half and two in the second. Had it not been for penalties inflicted on the Red and Blue Cornell would never have been within striking distance of the Pennsylvania goal. The Ithaca boys were powerless on the offense until near the close of the game when Pennsylvania had an almost new team and on the defense they were equally weak. Not a first down was earned by the visitors in the opening half, and only once during this period did Cornell hold for downs. Pennsylvania was penalized 35 yards in the first half and was set back 40 yards in the closing period of the game.

Fumble after fumble occurred in the Cornell back field, and on nearly every offense she would lose the ball. The fumbling, to a certain extent, was due to the miserable passing of Wilder. One pass went from midfield to Cornell's 18-yard line, and resulted a moment later in a touchdown for the Pennsylvania team.

A feature was the fierce tackling of the Pennsylvanians. On nearly every scrimmage when the Cornell team had the ball there would be one of the visitors laid out. Stevenson, Pennsylvania's quarter back, was finally sent to the side lines by Umpire Edwards because of rough play.

Cornell's playing was a disappointment to the spectators, but notwithstanding that the eleven was pushed from one end of the field to the other repeatedly, the little band of rooters made the field ring with cheers.

Pennsylvania's defense before the back field was weakened by the substitution of Folwell for Smith and Sheble for Greene was remarkable. If a Cornell runner got his body through the Pennsylvania line either Smith or Greene was there to double him back.

Stevenson Is Ruled Out.

Stevenson, Zeigler and Pieykarskie were particularly strong on the offense. The former got away for several good quarter back runs and the two latter ripped the Cornell line into shreds when called upon to advance the ball.

It was a perfect day for football for the spectator, but uncomfortably warm for the player. There were nearly 25,000 persons within the big inclosure. Reynolds kicked off to Rice on Cornell's goal line. Rice ran the sphere back 15 yards and with two penalties added the ball was on Cornell's 25-yard line. Gibson and Halliday each made two yards, and with one yard to go Cornell was thrown back on the third attempt and lost the ball. Seven rushes were sufficient for Penn

ECKERSALL'S RUN CLIMAX OF GAME

Caught Ball from Kickoff and Carried It 107 Yards for Touchdown.

CHICAGO WON GREAT GAME

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Chicago 18, Wisconsin 11, was the score today in the hardest fought football game played on Marshall field this season. The game was replete with surprises and critical situations which kept the 18,000 spectators on the qui vive from the time of the first kickoff until the final whistle blew.

The climax was reached in the middle of the second half. Eckersall caught the ball on the kickoff on Chicago's three-yard line and started toward Wisconsin's goal. The Wisconsin men came thundering down upon him. Some of them were stopped by Chicago interference and others Eckersall dodged until only Stromquist, Wisconsin's fullback, blocked the way to a touchdown.

Dodging dangerously near the side line, the speedy little quarterback rushed by, the outstretched fingers of his opponent grazing his leg as he passed. Two seconds later he was beneath a pile of squirming humanity behind the Wisconsin goal posts. He had made the record run of the season, covering 107 yards, to do which he actually ran 115 yards. The crowd went wild, Wisconsin rooters joining with the Chicago men in cheering the play. All sense of partisanship was lost in the general admiration for the magnificent play.

A few moments later Vanderboom, who played a star game for Wisconsin, was given almost as great an ovation when he made a 25-yard run for a touchdown. His play was the culmination of a series of line smashes by which Wisconsin had worked the ball from their own 20-yard line to Chicago's 25-yard line.

The game was particularly notable for tenacious grit with which both elevens fought for every inch of the ground. Neither showed discouragement at the success of the other, but on the contrary played all the harder. Wisconsin deserves especial credit for this spirit, having near the end of the second half succeeded in holding Chicago for downs on Wisconsin's one-yard line. Score and lineup:

WHEELS TO TURN IN EVERY MILL

Signs of Times Indicate Great Era of Prosperity in Pittsburgh District.

ALL TRADES ARE IMPROVING

The outlook for the steel and iron business is rosier at present than for many months. Nearly all the mills and manufacturing concerns in the Pittsburgh district have sufficient orders to keep them running full for a long time to come. This is particularly true of the mills in the Monongahela and Turtle Creek valleys, where hundreds of men have been returned to work in the plants which worked short-handed previous to the election.

The McClintic-Marshall Construction Company at Rankin, the largest independent bridge and structural steel concern in the world, have about completed an addition to their works, one-half the size of the present plant. This addition is to be placed in operation within the next 10 days, the present shops being worked to their fullest capacity, night and day. The company has secured a large number of contracts for new buildings and bridges within the past month. They have already more than 1,000 men at work erecting steel for buildings in various parts of the country, and work on the new Wabash freight station in this city. Several other large contracts secured recently by the company are to be commenced as soon as the shapes can be made and the material placed on the ground.

The action of the Carnegie Steel Company in shutting down their Homestead mills one at a time in order to make the annual repairs is an indication of a rush of orders. Heretofore the entire plant was shut down for three or four weeks at Christmas time and all the repairs made at one time. This year, however, it was desired to keep the rush orders cleaned up.

Working on Large Orders.

The Homestead works are now working on large orders of pipe, tank and ship plate, many of the orders being for foreign concerns, but a large number of domestic orders are also on the books.

The Edgar Thompson plant of the Carnegie Steel Company at Braddock, which shut down Wednesday for repairs, is to resume again Monday morning. The suspension was necessitated owing to the bearings becoming worn on the large rail mill engines. The plant has been working full time for many months, and early last month broke the world's record for the output of steel. It was announced yesterday that the plant would shut down for but one day at Christmas, and that all the repairs needed in the works would be made between new and Monday morning, when the works will resume again.

Low water in the rivers has been a serious handicap to the Rankin and Braddock plants of the American Steel and Wire Company, and the largest stock of finished wire products ever held at the plants is now in their warerooms awaiting shipment. The mills have been busy, but as most of the orders were for river shipment it was impossible to ship and the material was piled in the warerooms. Both mills are now working full handed, double turn, having secured large orders for nails, wire and field fencing principally for the west, where deliveries can be conveniently made by rail.

The American field fencing is rapidly coming into popular favor in European countries and the far east, and a number of orders for fencing has been made in the Rankin plant. The orders are for the better grade of wire in nearly every instance, and special care is taken in manufacturing and packing it. Each bundle of wire is given a coating of paraffine wax and wrapped in burlap.

Orders for Machinery and Engines.

At the works of the Mesta Machine Company in West Homestead there is unusual activity as the company have many orders for machinery and engines. At present the plant is busy completing the machinery for the new tube mills being erected at McKeesport. A large portion of the contract for the machinery for the new plant was secured by the Mesta company.

The world's record for the output of iron is to be broken this month at the Carrie furnace plant of the Carnegie Steel Company at Rankin, according to the officials of that plant. The record is now held by the Duquesne furnaces of the same company, and the Carrie officials are attempting to beat the record. The product of the plant is used by the Homestead mills and as they are running full this month has been selected as the one in which to break the record. The plants of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, the Westinghouse Machine Company and Pittsburgh Meter Company at East Pittsburgh, and the Westinghouse Air Brake Company at Wilmerding are working at nearly their full capacity. All these concerns were seriously effected by the depression during the summer, but for the past two months all have been steadily increasing their forces until at present many of the men have been working overtime.

The plants of the Standard Chain Company, Sterling Foundry Company and McVay & Walker foundry at Braddock; the Expanded Metal Company and Columbian Bridge Company at Rankin are working in full and announce that their Christmas pay will be the largest in nearly a year.

Conditions in Coal Trade.

Patrick Dolan, president of the United Mine Workers, is one of the best informed men on the general industrial situation in this part of the state. When asked about the conditions now prevailing he said:

"In mining circles the condition is one which is entirely under the control of the weather at present. Until the rivers rise there can be no improvement. The mines are working three and four days every week, but the railroads are unable to furnish cars enough to take care of the output. When the rivers rise and the empty coal boats are brought up the river, there will be an unprecedented run.

"I have made a personal investigation of the car shortage. There is more ore being hauled into Pittsburgh this last two weeks than at any time during the past year or 18 months. These cars might be turned over to the mine owners, cut as soon as they are empty they are loaded again by the furnace men for shipping out their own product, and but few of them get out to the mines. There is a great boom on in the iron industry and it is making a shortage of cars for coal.

"The condition of the rivers has forced the handling of much coal by rail which would otherwise have found its way by water. Practically there has been no river coal shipped for seven months. So, while the general public may have regretted the rains which have come on today, Thanksgiving day, they are a cause of rejoicing to the miners and to every person along the river valleys, and we are all hoping the rain will keep up long enough to give us a nine-foot stage.

"There are over 30,000,000 bushels of coal loaded and now waiting in the harbor here for shipment south, and there are hundreds of empty coal boats waiting down the river to get up. Even if we should get but three or four feet of water in the rivers now, it would allow these empties to come up, and that would mean a tremendous impetus to the mining industry and one of the greatest Christmas seasons the miners have ever known."

Sure Sign of Prosperity.

There is no surer barometer of the times, in the minds of business men, than the stream of traveling men that hustle in and out of Pittsburgh. For months previous to October the army of "runners" had been so reduced as to give hotel men the blues and make merchants wonder if Pittsburgh were still on the map of some of the big mercantile houses. Since that date they have been pouring into the city from all quarters and are once more telling each other that Pittsburgh is booked for a big trade in all lines next year. A well known hotel proprietor said yesterday:

"There are at least 40 per cent more traveling men registered at Pittsburgh hotels now than in September. All summer they seemed to shy at this town. Those who did come reported business bad for Pittsburgh, which always means, of course, that it is much better here than in other slower cities, which in really good times do not do a fraction of the business that Pittsburgh does. But now the runners are feeling good. They are booking good orders for next year and say that the general feeling of business men is typical of the strong undercurrent of inquiry and actual buying that has lately set in."

In some lines big establishments have lately started out their salesmen after a lay off of several months or a year. This is true of the lumber firms, many of which took off their traveling men in the summer, and are now hustling them out after orders for early delivery. Men who "travel out" of Pittsburgh report the prospects for trade all over the Pittsburgh district to be getting better every day. More and larger orders are being taken, collections are better and the local dealers in the small towns have a feeling of confidence in the situation in their particular localities that they have not shown for a year.

National Tube is Busy.

In the tube business the outlook for the coming year is unusually bright. The mills of the National Tube Company are more thronged with work than they generally are at this time of year. Ordinarily this is the dull season in the tube industry, but this year is an exception to the general rule. All mills of the company are working full except one furnace at the Riverside works in Wheeling, and one mill in Philadelphia. At McKeesport every department is working full, double turn, and has been for some weeks. The company has not issued its prospectus for the coming year but an official of the concern stated yesterday that the indications are it would be unusually bright when it comes, as the tube trade has shown a better condition than for several years past. He said that although some believe, or profess to believe, that the present resumption is not a permanent one, his company is not proceeding upon this assumption, but is arranging for a great year's business.

An official of the Jones & Laughlin company stated that the plants of that company were running practically full and more men are being added to the force daily. The demand for all classes of material is increasing daily, and the condition of business is much better than it was at this time a year ago. The Jones & Laughlin company are making every preparation to take care of an immensely increased trade during the season of 1905.

"There is no line of trade which shows the general trend better than that of wholesale groceries. Arbuckle & Co. and Dilworth Brothers, two of the largest of Pittsburgh's wholesale grocers, state that business within the last few weeks has shown a phenomenal improvement. The first three days of this week showed a great gain over the three days preceding Thanksgiving day last year.

Grocery Trade is Increasing.

For the last two months business has been steadily increasing in the grocery line. This branch of trade has been the first to feel dull times. Curtailment of work means curtailment of wages for the workers. That means cutting down of grocery bills, and the wholesalers quickly experience the change. To the same effect does a resumption of business affect them, and as soon as mills and factories commence operations again the wholesale grocers feel the change. The first week, even before the workers have received a pay, brings about a condition of improvement, and after the first pay the increase of business is rapid.

Dealers in all kinds of boat stores and supplies look for a tremendous business as soon as the river rises to permit the resumption of navigation. Lying idle in the Pittsburgh harbor today are about 50 large boats. These vessels carry crews of from 50 to 75 men. As soon as the river comes up these boats will all go into service and they will all be able to provision for a first day. Rivermen are famous for living well and eating plenty, as the open-air nature of their work is the greatest appetite developer known. This will mean a tremendous boom for wholesale grocery houses. At the same time rope stores, machinery depots, and all other concerns which contribute to the supplies of the river trade will commence to make up for the months of idleness which has intervened since the last coal run was made. Thousands of pounds of boat stores and supplies are already done up and waiting for the ringing of the telephone bell which will order them hurried to the wharf to catch the first of the high water which has been waited for all during the summer months.

PITTSBURGH POLICE ON PARADE

Long Columns Drawn up for Inspection.

CITY OFFICERS WIN HIGH PRAISE

Mayor Hays and Cabinet Much Pleased With Appearance of Men in Annual Drill.

KENNELLY PROVED A STAR

The annual inspection of the police department of Pittsburgh was held yesterday in St. Pierre street, Oakland, before Mayor William B. Hays and his cabinet. The drill was conducted by Assistant Superintendent of Police Kennelly in a manner which brought praise from his superior officers. Superintendent of Police Wallace was also congratulated by Mayor Hays and Director Moore on the appearance and bearing of the officers. In their winter uniforms the policemen made an impressive appearance throughout the drill, and won the admiration of the councilmen and citizens who watched them.

Company D, commanded by Capt. John Cahan of the Frankstown avenue station house, was awarded the first prize for being the best drilled squad of officers. Mayor Hays and his cabinet decided that the patrol wagon and horses from the Central station made the best appearance in that competition. It took the judges 25 minutes to reach a conclusion in this event. Director Moore and Superintendent of Detectives McQuaide favored the exhibit from the South Thirteenth street station house. Capt. Gallant was conceded to be the best appearing officer by the judges.

It was 10 o'clock when Assistant Superintendent Kennelly and the officers, headed by the Second brigade band, turned into St. Pierre street from Fifth avenue. After the companies were formed Mayor Hays and his cabinet made an inspection of each patrolman.

There was an incident during the inspection that brought laughter from the spectators. Just as the inspection started the band began to play: "Won't You Be Easy on Me."

The judges consisted of Mayor Hays, Director Moore, Superintendent Wallace, Superintendent of Detectives McQuaide, Inspectors R. H. Robinson, Robert S. Gray, W. J. Boyle, Milton Bailey, Bernard McStay and City Physician A. A. McCandless. It took a half hour for the judges to examine the 500 men. Then the policemen were put through their exercise drill by Kennelly.

The drill was witnessed by Col. F. J. Rutledge of the Eighteenth regiment, Capt. Ralph Beassen of the regular army, Capt. J. A. A. Brown, former drillmaster of the police department as well as building inspector, and former Superintendent of Police Sol Coulson. These men congratulated Superintendent Wallace on the appearance of his officers and the manner in which his assistant, Kennelly, drilled them. Mayor Hays decided not to hold the regular parade on account of the inclement weather.

HOW PITTSBURGH GAVE ITS THANKS

Business Was Generally Suspended and Everybody Was Grateful for Blessings.

SERVICES IN MANY CHURCHES

Taking it all around the Pilgrim Fathers who instituted Thanksgiving day in America could have desired no more earnest or quiet celebration than Pittsburgh had yesterday. Despite the big parade of the police department in the forenoon and the noisy demonstrations of the college youth and sporting fraternity who were interested in the football games, the day was a quiet one in this city.

Thanksgiving services were held in most of the churches and here the grateful souls poured out their thankfulness for the manifold blessings of the year past. The harvests, the continued peace and prosperity, the health of the nation, were all subjects for special exaltation, and from church altars and beside family firesides went up the prayers for which this day is especially set aside and marked out from all others in the calendars.

Business generally was suspended. There were few places where clerks could be found on duty behind counters. In the downtown section everything was closed up. Even many of the barrooms were closed, only those connected with the hotels and some eating houses being open. Many of the restaurants, where thousands are fed daily, had allowed their employes a day at home and the multitudes who eat hurried meals there during the week had gone to homes of their own or their friends and were enjoying dinners such as no restaurant can ever hope to compete with.

The hotels all had special bills of fare in honor of the day, and wherever men gathered to answer the demands of their appetites, there was something to remind them of the day. That happy idea of the Pilgrims of using turkeys for the Thanksgiving feast still holds, and the American public follows the custom which has grown hoary with age and hallowed with associations.

There were many family gatherings about the city. It is always a popular day for reunions and family gatherings always have a peculiar and holy significance when held on this day of all others.

DEDICATED A SCHOOL.

Jr. O. U. A. M. Presents Banners to Two Educational Institutions.

The handsome new school building at Glassport was dedicated yesterday with exercises, in which the Jr. O. U. A. M. of McKeesport played a prominent part. The feature of the dedication was the presentation of an American flag to the school by Hero council No. 666, McKeesport. Addresses were made by Burgess H. C. Griffith, William Coleman, members of the board, and the Rev. C. S. Osborne, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

The building cost about $70,000. About a year ago a similar building, which had just been completed, was burned to the ground a few days before the date of dedication. For several months afterward school was held in churches, public halls and stores, but owing to the disadvantages connected with that method school was discontinued during some of the winter months. The new building has been occupied for several weeks.

Hero council No. 666, McKeesport, also presented a new flag to the faculty of the McKeesport High school during the day.

NEW YEAR'S GIFTS FOR SOLDIERS IN FIELD

TOKYO, Nov. 24.—Several charitable organizations, headed by the ladies of the patriotic societies, are arranging to send New Year's presents to every soldier in the field. The contributions already assured indicate there will be enough to give each soldier two presents. The people of Tokyo are contributing thousands of packages.

Local Hotels Were Crowded.

All the leading local hotels yesterday were more crowded than on any previous Thanksgiving. The Colonial served over 1,500 dinners, the Henry 1,200, the Seventh Avenue 1,000, the Monongahela House 900, the Lincoln 800, the Grisvold 500 and the Duquesne 800. Each hotel had special table d'hote dinners, which were far above the ordinary, and cost far more than was charged.

Dr. Levy Celebrates Birthday.

The board of trustees of the Reform Congregation Rodeph Shalom, together with their wives, were guests of the Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy at a dinner given at his home last night on the occasion of the 39th anniversary of his birth. The trustees presented Dr. Levy with a handsome Davenport couch and a hall electrolier. The house was decorated and the guests entertained with moving pictures taken at the St. Louis fair.

Thanksgiving in Constantinople.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 24.—Thanksgiving day was generally observed by Americans here by a short church service in the forenoon and a half holiday at the American colleges at Hissar and Soutari. Flags were hoisted over the legation and consulate buildings. There was a dinner party this evening at Hissar, Charge Jay and other members of the American legation attending.

PRESIDENT WAS LAUDED IN SERMON OF GRATITUDE

The Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young Declares America Should Be Thankful for Retaining Leadership of Roosevelt.

"Not least among America's causes for giving thanks is the fact that the White House is to be occupied until March, 1909, by Theodore Roosevelt, a man freer than any of his predecessors from partisan bias and partisan obligation, the best educated and broadest minded of them all and inferior to none in conscience and courage," declared the Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young in his Thanksgiving sermon before the congregation of the Second Presbyterian church in the Bijou theater yesterday morning. Continuing, the pastor said in part:

I had good citizenship conversations with him when, as president of the police board of New York, he was too unpopular to be elected pound-keeper, had he been running; when parades were arranged for the express purpose of denouncing his enforcement of the temperance and Sunday laws, and at that time I hardly dared even to pray that he might one day become president of the United States.

Only at the day of judgment can anybody except the Almighty to adequately compute the advantage to our republic and the world which must accrue from installing such brains, integrity and energy in the presidential chair. Surely we will all cease to be partisans, in the sense of limiting his endeavors to improve our 80,000,000 of citizens and citizens in futelage. Let him be a Frederick the Great to these, exalted to fatherly oversight, not by swords and guns, but by ballots and common consent.

Bring on your greatest reforms—war on drunkenness, war on race hatred and creed hatred, war on class hatred, war on vice, and back up the president. If he should fail to do far more splendid things than ever now that he has the largest opportunity of any man in our generation, he would draw upon himself the bitterer execration. The higher our hopes, the more terrible our curses, should he falter. Mighty hour! Into line, everybody!

Previous to the sermon national anthems were sung, in their native tongue, of a dozen nations, the singing of which was participated in by many who were originally of the lands.

Thanksgiving at Copenhagen.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 24.—Minister and Mrs. Swenson gave a Thanksgiving day dinner at the American legation tonight, which was attended by the staffs of the legation and consulate, a number of Americans and a few Danes. Minister Swenson proposed the health of President Roosevelt, referring to his re-election as an earnest of increased prosperity for America and its friendlier relations with the rest of the world.

BUILDING WILL COST MORE SOON

This Is the Opinion of Architects, Contractors and Builders' Supply Men.

SMALL REAL ESTATE DEALS

The man who contemplates building a house or a business block had better hurry with his plans if he wants to save money. This is the opinion of the best architects and contractors in the city, as well as a majority of the big dealers in builders' supplies. Their judgment is not based entirely on selfish motives, for they can furnish the best of proof for the assertion that all indications point to higher prices for building before next spring. Architects who have prepared plans for their clients are urging them to get them on to the boards for bids at once. Prices have shown no noticeable increase yet over the quotations of last summer, and both architects and contractors say that building can be done now as cheaply, probably, as it can be reckoned on for at least three years, with the probabilities greatly in favor of a pretty stiff advance next spring. That this view is also taken by some of the shrewdest business men in the city is shown by the haste they are making to get their contracts awarded and work started before winter fairly sets in.

Sticking Close to List Now.

There is every indication of an advance in the price of lumber, which is one of the main factors in building. When the Pittsburgh Wholesale Lumber Dealers' association met last summer and practically made an open market for hemlock and a few other woods, it resulted in selling prices going away below list. Recently this action was rescinded and now the lists are strictly adhered to by all the big firms in the city. Dealers look for an advance of at least $2 a thousand in white pine, and the demand for hemlock is keeping the price very stiff at present quotations, with some orders going begging for lack of good stock. Oak is also booked for an increase, and other lumber is certain to cost fully as much next spring as now. Although no marked advances have been noted in the price of cement, brick and other building material, it is generally believed that these will cost more soon.

The prospect for building of all kinds, and especially house building, is excellent, and if business conditions improve as they are expected to do, the demand for material of all kinds, as well as labor, will be enough to warrant a good increase in the asking price.

Speaking of the matter this week, a downtown architect remarked: "I look for house building to cost fully 10 per cent more next spring than now. It would not surprise me if the increase in cost amounted to 15 per cent. Material is sure to be higher, especially lumber. While the labor market is supposed to be fixed, there is no possibility of labor being cheaper, and in some crafts there may be an increase. The man who hesitates to push his plans ahead now is making a great mistake, as he will find when he asks for bids in the rush of business next spring."

Two More Railroad Deals Settled.

The Wabash railroad has secured title to two more downtown properties for which it has been negotiating for months. One is the Thomas Gamble holdings, 33x60 feet, at Fourth avenue and Ferry street, for which the railroad company paid $85,000. The other is the Matthew Green lot, 30x40 feet, with wing 10 x46 feet, at Third avenue and Redoubt alley, which cost the Wabash $18,000. Both lots were improved with old buildings of little value.

West View: F. C. Martsolf has sold two seven-room reception-hall brick houses on lots 30x110 feet each in Fairview avenue, West View, for $8,000. The houses were bought by Allegheny men, who will occupy them as homes. This makes a total of 18 sold out of the 54 houses which Mr. Martsolf built in West View. Most of the remainder, with the exception of a few $7,000 houses, are rented at prices ranging from $18 to $25 a month each.

Allegheny: H. C. Mendel & Co. sold for J. Cochran to a North Side business man a 12-room brick house on 56x130 feet in Maple avenue, near Lafayette street, Allegheny, for $6,100. The house is one of the best on Nunnery hill and was bought for a home.

FREIGHTS COME TOGETHER AND TRAFFIC IS DELAYED

An eastbound freight train passing the Wilmerding station on the Pennsylvania railroad with 30 empties on its way to the Pitcairn transfer yards was struck by engine 155 carrying several cars at 1 p. m. yesterday. The latter, a fast freight, struck the rear of the slow train as it turned the curve near the Westinghouse air brake works, Engineer Charles Winebrenner of engine No. 155 jumped and was seriously bruised. Four cars were derailed, three being wrecked. The engine was also damaged. Traffic was delayed for three hours.

DUMPING TONS OF ACID.

Concerns at Coraopolis Said to Empty It Into the Ohio River.

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 1.9 feet and the river was stationary.

Concerning the matter of acid in the river water, a correspondent from Coraopolis writes The Gazette that the Ohio river at that point is worse than the Monongahela river in any of its pools. He states two concerns operating near there dump tons of sulphuric acid into the river at that place every month. All the fish in the river have disappeared and the correspondent states the condition is worse there than at any point in the Monongahela.

Rivermen have been greatly stirred up by the publication of the articles in The Gazette concerning the dumping of this acid into the river and it is believed some action will be taken by the river interests to prevent it. It is estimated the trouble has already caused a loss of many thousands of dollars to boat owners and others who take their boiler supply direct from the rivers this year and the boilers of many boats have been rendered almost worthless. A number of new boilers will have to be placed as a consequence. Many boat owners have refused profitable work during the prevailing low water, refusing to permit their boilers to be used for getting up steam on such water as these concerns have been making. The rivermen claim there is absolutely no necessity whatever for allowing this acid to be dumped into the river but that it could all be saved with a profit to the concerns committing the nuisance, provided they would invest in a plant for taking care of their refuse acid.

Thanksgiving day of 1904 will go down in history as one day the rivermen were able to eat their dinners at home. It was the first time for years the boats were not running in the Pittsburgh harbor, and the navigators made the best of the low water situation.

The Wool Market.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Offerings at the wool auction sales today numbered 13,531 bales. There was a superior selection and scoured and greasy merinos were in brisk demand. Several lots of greasy were taken for America. This coupled with a good continental demand had a hardening effect. Several parcels of good greasy combings sold at a penny above the valuations. France bought good supplies of low scoureds and slip cross breds. Neck wools were extremely animated. The following are the sales in detail: New South Wales, 4,500 bales; scoured, 9½@9¾d; greasy, 8¾@9d; 2s, Queensland, 1,400 bales; scoured, 1s 8d; 2s ½d; greasy, 7½@11¼d. Victoria, 1,700 bales; scoured, 10d@1s 1¼d; greasy, 5¼@7¾d; 1s 1¼d. South Australia, 1,400 bales; greasy, 6½@9¾d; 1s 1½d. West Australia, 1,200 bales; greasy, 7@10½d. New Zealand, 2,600 bales; scoured, 9d@1s 9½d; greasy, 7¾d@1s 4d. Cape of Good Hope and Natal, 400 bales; scoured, 1s@1s 9½d; greasy, 6¾@10d. River plate, 100 bales; scoured, 11½d@1s 8½d.

P. & L. E. Road Has Increased the Pittsburgh-Buffalo Service

The passenger officials of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad announced their winter schedule changes yesterday. The announcement contains two important features—one, that an extra train will be put into service between Pittsburgh and Buffalo, with the running time of all the trains between the two cities cut one hour and 15 minutes. The other feature is that 22 trains will be run in and out of New Castle every day. This is eight trains a day more than are run by any other line entering the steel town. The schedule will be effective next Sunday. The new train will leave Pittsburgh at 1:35 p. m., local time, and will arrive at Buffalo at 7:25, central time, thereby reducing the schedule 70 minutes below the present fastest competing train. This will meet the demand Pittsburgh business men have been making for many years—a service that will enable the transaction of practically a day's business at Pittsburgh and still allow him to reach Buffalo at a reasonable hour the same evening. At present the best day service by any line means an all-day ride during the hours in which all business is transacted, consequently this new service practically saves a day. The train will be composed of day coaches, Pullman parlor cars and Lake Shore dining car. The latter will be attached to the train at Ashtabula. The cutting off of 70 minutes in the running time has been made possible by recent improvements between Ashtabula and Buffalo on the Lake Shore road, where third and fourth tracks have been laid and which is now considered the fastest piece of track in the Vanderbilt system. The Twentieth Century limited frequently attained a speed of 90 miles an hour on this stretch. The return service is equally as good, leaving Buffalo at 12:25 p. m., central time, with dining car service, reaching Pittsburgh at 8:15 p. m., local time. With the addition of this train the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie will operate morning, noon, afternoon and night trains to Buffalo. This is the best service between the two cities. Among the local changes the principal thing is the rearrangement of the New Castle service. The New Castle express, at present leaving at 9:05 a. m., will leave at 10:39, local time, arriving at noon. The 1:10 p. m. local express, at present running to West Pittsburgh, has been changed to leave Pittsburgh at 12:55 p. m., local time, and has been extended to New Castle, arriving there at 2:45 p. m. Returning, this train leaves New Castle at 3:30 p. m., arriving in Pittsburgh at 5:15 p. m. Trains 41 and 42 to and from St. Louis have been discontinued. The new time card is the best ever arranged by this road. The shortening of the running time of the trains shows that vast improvements have been completed since the summer schedule was put into effect.

Object to New Bill of Lading.

Shippers may begin a legal war on the railroads belonging to the Central and Trunk Line Freight associations. The uniform bill of lading which the railroads propose to put into effect on January 1 is the cause of the friction between the two interests. The executive committee of the Shippers association met Wednesday and outlined its fight in opposition to the proposed step. After the official classification and other provisions of the new bill of lading were discussed the following resolutions were adopted: "That we protest against the clause with reference to the common law liability in the proposed new uniform bill of lading and insist upon its elimination therefrom. That we demand a straight, plain contract, which shall fully protect the shippers as well as the carriers."

Railroad Notes.

The passenger service on Lake Erie steamboats will close next Tuesday for the season.

The majority of railroads will put into effect their winter time card next Sunday. For the first time in several years all the roads entering Pittsburgh will change time Sunday.

General Manager G. L. Peck of the Pennsylvania lines will be given jurisdiction of the Vandalia December 15, when the several lines are formally transferred to the Pennsylvania company.

FINGER-PRINTS AID THE POLICE

New System of Identification to Be Employed at the County Workhouse.

M'QUAIDE MAKES USE OF IT

A. H. Leslie, superintendent of the Allegheny county workhouse, is making a study of the Henry finger-print system for the identification of criminals. It is probable this plan will take the place of the Bertillon method now in use in the institution.

Superintendent Thomas McQuaide of the Pittsburgh bureau of detectives is another who thinks well of the finger-print plan. He has been using it for some time in conjunction with the Bertillon system. The latter method of identification cannot be depended upon. This was shown Wednesday in the arrest of Gardiner McKay at Castle Shannon on a charge of having committed murder in Philadelphia. McKay was last measured and photographed under the Bertillon system five years ago, and since then the measurements have changed and the photograph is no longer a true likeness of the prisoner.

J. K. Ferrier, a representative of Scotland Yard, London, is stationed at the British Royal pavilion at the St. Louis fair, to explain the exhibit of the finger-print system the British government has there. Superintendent Leslie has visited him and has been in correspondence with the detective. Yesterday he received a long letter treating of the system, together with a picture illustrating its workings.

Discarded Bertillon System.

Mr. Ferrier says Scotland Yard has discarded the Bertillon system and is using the finger-print method of identification throughout the United Kingdom and the dependencies of England. In his letter to Superintendent Leslie, Mr. Ferrier says in part:

The Bertillon system calls for certain measurements of the face, head, arms, fingers, feet, etc. The originator's idea was that if the measurements were carefully made and noted, a great advance would be made in the identification of persons who live by crime. With the introduction of this system a decided advance was achieved on previously accepted methods, and a greater proportion of habitual criminals were identified than formerly. At the same time it was recognized that the system was after all very fallible; the fact that all kinds of prison and police officers did the measuring ultimately proved that discrepancies occurred in the particulars taken by careful expert officers, from those of the unskilled.

A youthful offender is convicted, and assuming from his associates and general deportment, that he is likely to make crime his profession, his measurements are taken and filed away in the central bureau. Nothing more is heard of the boy for seven or eight years, during which he has developed into a full grown man. He is again arrested, far from the scene of his former crime, and refuses to give any account of himself. His measurements are taken and sent to the central bureau for search in order to trace his antecedents, but his duplicate is not found, because his former measurements were those of a boy, whilst his present measurements are those of a man.

We used Bertillon system at Scotland Yard, and it has done some good work for us, but proving fallible in many instances, we finally decided to discard it, for what is now known as the finger-print system. Identification by means of finger-prints is not a new science. The Chinese passport for centuries has been a government, stamped piece of oiled paper on which the transient impresses the tip of his finger. Long ago the Celestials discovered that this is an effectual means of preventing the transfer of a passport, as the ridges of no two fingers are alike.

No Two Finger-Prints Same.

To Prof. Francis Galton is due the discovery of the definite value of finger-prints. He took the study up about seventeen years ago, and in a few years reduced the subject to a science. He experimented and discovered the best means of taking the imprints from the fingers. He collected the finger-prints of a large number of persons, some of whom were taken at intervals of several years. He established the fact that the papillary ridges on the finger tips are permanent through life; thus every person carries about with him ten infallible witnesses as to his identity. A child is born with fingers lined in a certain unique way. The fingers grow in size, but throughout boyhood, manhood, and maturity the patterns remain unchanged. From infancy to senility, and until long after death the finger-prints remain true to their first form. Injuries may partially destroy them, but never entirely, and as the injury heals the original lines assert themselves exactly as before. I have had access to finger-prints, between the taking of which there had been a lapse of forty years, and they showed no variation.

Here then in nature's own method of identification, no two finger-prints have ever been found to be alike, and Prof. Galton calculates that the chances are of two finger-prints being alike as less than one in 164,000,000, and as we take the ten digits, that number has to be multiplied by the square of ten, consequently if two finger prints coincide it is certain that they are the prints of the same person, obversely, if they differ, it is equally certain that the impressions are made by different persons.

Although it has been known for centuries that finger-prints are a reliable means of identification, up to a few years ago no satisfactory method had ever been discovered of classifying them. It was left to E. R. Henry, chief commissioner of police, New Scotland Yard, London, to overcome the difficulty. While inspector general of police in India, he devised a method of classification which has proved, after a trial of several years, to be absolutely infallible.

Many More Identifications.

Mr. Ferrier gives statistics to show the increased number of identifications over the Bertillon method by use of the finger-print system. From 1898 to 1901 Scotland Yard made 1,267 identifications under the Bertillon plan and from 1902 to June 30 of this year there were 7,699 identifications by the finger-print system, in conjunction with the finger-print, the photograph is used. The combination obviates mistakes. In describing the plan, Mr. Ferrier writes:

At Scotland Yard, and in other countries where Mr. Henry's system has been adopted, a prisoner's finger-prints and descriptive form, with photograph and previous convictions are sent to the central finger bureau, prior to the prisoner's discharge. The same numerical number is stamped upon both. The finger prints are filed away according to their classification, the descriptive form, numerically. If the finger prints of John Smith are sent to us from Glasgow, Scotland, on receipt of same we classify them, and find he was formerly known as Thomas Williams, and has a long record of English and Irish convictions. We then send his descriptive form, with photograph and previous convictions, to Glasgow. The police authorities there, after noting the particulars furnished them, at the conclusion of the case, return our descriptive form, together with the result of the case to Scotland Yard, and thus every criminal's record is kept up to date, ready to be sent to any police or prison authorities, who send us the finger-prints of prisoners whom they have in custody.

I realize that the Bertillon system must coexist with the finger-print system for years, until all criminals, now registered under the Bertillon system are finger-printed and registered under Mr. Henry's system, then anthropometric measurements might with advantage be discarded as having served their purpose. This has been done in Great Britain and her colonies, and is now being done in Austria, Germany and other countries. The modus operandi is, on a prisoner being in custody, his finger-prints and anthropometric measurements are taken, and sent to the central bureau. The finger-prints are classified and the records searched. If its duplicate is not found it is certain that he never before had been finger-printed. The Bertillon records are then searched. If a duplicate is found the Bertillon record is then cancelled and the convictions are registered under the finger-print system.

Another Value of the System.

In addition to the actual identification of prisoners, finger-prints have on many occasions proved of value, in tracing criminals who had committed serious offences, but who had not been arrested at the time. Several cases have occurred where the thief has left finger marks on glass or on the painted woodwork of doors and windows. These marks have been photographed and compared with the impressions of persons under suspicion of committing such offences, and whose finger prints were already on record. In this manner several cases have been proved, and the finger-print evidence has been given in court, admitted by the judge, and accepted by the jury.

Finger-prints have also often proved of value in identifying dead bodies of burglars, who have been killed when pursuing their nefarious calling, and also in the identification of dead bodies fished out of the river Thames that otherwise would never have been identified.

Finger-prints are not confined to police departments. They are used in almost every branch of the public service. They are used in the registration of immigrants, and in banking matters, and in registering civil and military pensioners, and by insurance companies, and have been found to be almost indispensible in large iron and steel works, where the majority of the employes are Russian Poles, the names of whom are almost unpronounceable, and many of whom have been dismissed, who would, were they not registered under the finger-print system, obtain re-employment under assumed names. Finger-prints could with advantage, be used in the United States in the registration of voters. No better check on boodle could be had, as it would be impossible for any person to register twice, as it is alleged is done under existing conditions.

ANOTHER FAKE FIGHT.

Sandy Ferguson's Light Swing Sent Haghey Down and He Took the Count.

BANGOR, ME., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—What was to have been a 12-round bout between Sandy Ferguson of Chelsea and Charlie Haghey of Lowell, in Company G armory this afternoon, ended in the middle of the first round, and it was one of the most barefaced fakes ever sprung on the long-suffering sporting men of Bangor.

Ferguson began business right away, sending his left to the head and getting nothing back. He repeated the blow and Haghey went to his knees, but was soon up and got in a glancing blow to Sandy's head. Ferguson swung his left to the neck and down went Haghey for a count of nine. Another short swing to the neck and Haghey went down again, with little provocation, for the full count. Some one threw a little icewater upon the prostrate Lowell man and he hopped up cheerfully and ran to his corner, where he wiped his face and then, shaking hands cordially with Ferguson, quit the ring.

The crowd yelled "fake" and roundly abused the fighters, and a scene of great confusion followed.

An East End man, reviewing the two teams, says the Crescents will win.

TWO RECORDS BROKEN ON THE BENNINGS TRACK

Great Crowd Watched the Races and Was Treated to Some Very Exciting Sport.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BENNINGS, D. C., Nov. 24.—Two broken track records, an unprecedented crowd and the running of the Washington cup and the Chevy Chase selling steeplechase events were the features of today's Thanksgiving racing of the Washington Jockey club. Upwards of 15,000 people from Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and elsewhere watched the sport.

There were seven races, in most of which large fields started. The contest for the seventh Washington cup clipped one and two-fifths seconds off the record for the distance at this course, the favorite, Go Between, winning easily after allowing Queen Belle, a long shot, to set the pace to the stretch. The Chevy Chase steeplechase was a pretty three-horse affair, Imperialist and Connover running neck and neck most of the way with the long shot keeping a fair distance back. Imperialist finally drew away from Connover at the stretch and had a length to spare at the finish. King Carter, a 15 to 1 shot, furnished a surprise in the handicap steeplechase for 3-year-olds, winning in time that cut the three-mile track record from 6:13 2-5 to 6:07 3-5. Summaries:

First race, maiden 2-year-olds, 5 furlongs, Columbia course—Golden Sunrise, 109, Redfern, 13 to 5, won; Yeoman, 109, Odom, 8 to 1 and 2½ to 1, second; Bohemia, 106, Creamer, 4 to 1 and 8 to 5, third. Time, 1:02⅘.

Second race, for 3-year-olds and upward, non-winners since November 2, 1904, 7 furlongs, Columbia course—Neptunus, 106, Travers, 10 to 1 and 4 to 1, won; Mary Worth, 106, Romanelli, 20 to 1 and 8 to 1, second; Payne, 101, Sperling, 3 to 1 and even, third. Time, 1:29 2-5.

Third race, renewal of the Chevy Chase, selling, steeplechase, open for 3-year-olds and upward, and ridden by gentlemen approved by the stewards, about 2½ miles—Imperialist, 155, Taylor, 4 to 1 and even, won; Connover, 155, Mr. Harris, even and out, second; Mr. R. Sack, 155, Mr. Halloway, 6 to 1 and even, third. Time, 5:14.

Fourth race, handicap, steeplechase, for 3-year-olds and upward, about 3 miles—King Carter, 150, Dayton, 15 to 1 and 6 to 1, won; Lavator, 168, Rogan, 6 to 1 and 8 to 5, second; Sandy Beech, 166, Gallagher, 5 to 1 and 6 to 5, third. Time, 6:07 3-5.

Fifth race, the seventh Washington cup, for 3-year-olds and upwards, 2¼ miles—Go Between, 94, Sperling, 7 to 5 and 2 to 5, won; Shorthose, 127, Odom, 3 to 1 and 6 to 5, second; Graziallo, 114, Redfern, 10 to 1 and 3 to 1, third. Time, 4:03 3-5.

Sixth race, selling, for maiden 2-year-olds at 10 pounds below the scale, 7 furlongs, Columbia course—Critical, 109, Redfern, 4 to 5 and out, won; Little Buttercup, 104, Lee, 6 to 1 and 2 to 1, second; Priority, 107, Hoffman, 60 to 1 and 20 to 1, third. Time, 1:31. Rassil was left at the post and cantered around the course.

Seventh race, selling, for 2-year-olds and upward, non-winners of $1,250 in 1904, 8½ furlongs, old course—Kilogram, 112, Odom, 6 to 1 and 2 to 1, won; Akela, 112, Burns, 8 to 5 and 4 to 5, second; Arrah Gowan, 112, B. Miller, 25 to 1 and 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:50 2-5.

Sewickley Loses to Normals.

CALIFORNIA, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Sewickley Y. M. C. A. started the game with the Normal by making a touchdown in just 15 seconds after the kick-off. V. Charnley caught it, broke through the Normal line and was over for a touchdown before he was touched. The visitors made another goal in the same manner, Martin carrying the ball up the field 75 yards. A goal from field brought Sewickleys score up to 16. The Normals, however, played straight football and beat the Y. M. C. A. 46 to 16.

Paddy Nee a Large Winner.

Paddy Nee, the well-known local sport, was one of the few Pittsburghers who is better off financially by reason of W. U. F.'s victory over the State college team yesterday and, according to those who should know, his winnings will run up to a couple of thousand or more. Nee was about the only local betting man who liked the chances of the local collegians and backed them at even money. He not only backed W. U. F. to win, but he also placed a few hundreds on the chances of Dickinson against Washington and Jefferson, and Pittsburgh Lyceum against East End Lyceum, and in both these cases he was a winner.

Oaklands in No-Score Game.

GREENSBURG, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The Polka Dots and the Oakland A. C. of Pittsburgh, battled for 30 minutes in the mud without a point being scored. Oakland was within its opponents 25-yard line twice in the second half, but lost opportunities to score through fumbles. Capt. Curran was Oakland's star and Seanor and Werkman excelled for the locals.

Beaver Bucked to Victory.

BEAVER, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Beaver college defeated the Belmonts of East Liverpool today in a fast game. Neither side could score in the first half. In the second by straight bucking Beaver went over for a touchdown. The ball was in Belmont's territory most of the game.

Athletic Smoker Was a Fizzle.

The athletic smoker billed for Duquesne last night was a fizzle. There was not enough money in sight to suit Mike McDermott and Lawrence Lutz in the main bout went by default. The only boxing was by the Clinton twins.

Purdue Vanquishes Notre Dame.

LAFAYETTE, IND., Nov. 24.—Purdue today defeated Notre Dame, on Stuart field, by a score of 36 to 0, winning the state intercollegiate football championship. Despite the one-sided score, the game was an excellent exhibition of football.

Denison Swamps Ohio Wesleyans.

NEWARK, O., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Denison outclassed Ohio Wesleyan today 27 to 6. Houdebust, Dennison's star quarter, caught the ball from kick-off and ran 95 yards for one of the touchdowns.

MAJOR DELMAR BOUGHT BY LOU DILLON'S OWNER

Team Will Now Try for World's Record. Sadie Mac Brings $15,500, the Record Price.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Major Delmar, the world's champion trotting gelding, with an unpaced trotting record of 2:01¼ and a paced trotting record of 1:59¾, was sold at the Old Glory sale at the Madison Square garden today for $15,000. The purchaser was C. K. G. Billings, owner of Lou Dillon. It was announced that Mr. Billings would race Major Delmar and Lou Dillon in an effort to break the world's record. Major Delmar was consigned by E. E. Smathers, who bought him last year for $40,000.

The record price thus far at the sale was paid for Sadie Mac, another of the E. E. Smathers string, who was bought by Miss Kate L. Wilks of Galt, Ont., for $15,500. Miss Wilks is the owner of Oro Wilkes and of several horses that won blue ribbons at the horse show last week.

Prince Alert, the world's champion racing gelding, with a race record of 1:59½ and a record of 1:57 with a wind shield, was sold to Edward Mitchell of New York for Walter Wyman of London for $2,600. He was consigned by James Hanley of Providence, R. I.

Grace Bond, the champion 3-year-old trotter of 1904, consigned by James Y. Gatcomb, was sold to Alonzo G. Maynard of New York for $15,000.

Iowa Presses Minnesota Hard.

CEDAR RAPIDS, IA., Nov. 24.—The University of Iowa went down to a glorious defeat before the University of Minnesota today, succeeding in holding Minnesota down to a score of 6 to 0 in the first half, while the final score was only 11 to 0, the lowest score which Minnesota has made against any opposing team this season. Minnesota was weakened to some extent by the loss of Strathern, Marshall and Brush. Line-up:

PITTSBURGH GOLFERS SHOWED THEIR SKILL

C. B. Fownes, Jr., Gets in First Sixteen. Allegheny Experts Also in Line for the Cups.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Nov. 24.—Interest in the three-day tournament of the Country club of Lakewood which began with the qualifying rounds today centered chiefly in the meeting of Travis, Douglas and W. C. Fownes, Jr., of the Oakmont Golf club. Fownes' play was watched closely today, for it is believed that he will give Travis and Douglas a close run for the first cup.

Mr. Fownes with a score of 83 tied with his brother, C. B. Fownes, John M. Ward and H. W. Maxwell for one of three places in the first sixteen. The weather conditions at the start were discouraging. A thick mist blanketed the links and the earliest starters from the Tee were lost to view after they had gone 15 yards. Approaching was purely a matter of guess work.

Pittsburgh players who won places in the second sixteen were: H. McSweeney of Oakmont and O. S. Thompson and J. Frederick Byers of the Allegheny Golf club. Mr. McSweeney's card read 92 and Mr. Thompson and Mr. Byers made the course in 96.

C. B. Fownes of Oakmont and S. W. Cook of Allegheny landed in the third sixteen.

UNIVERSITIES AT PEACE.

No Danger of Yale and Harvard Breaking Off Athletic Alliance.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—There has been a great deal of talk lately that there would be some trouble in renewing the athletic agreement to which Yale and Harvard came a year and a half ago, but there has been no foundation whatever for the rumor that trouble was likely to arise between the two colleges. It is not an exaggeration to say that the old rivals have never been on better terms than now. According to the agreement reached at Springfield on March 12, 1903, it is not necessary for the two colleges to take any action in respect to renewing the agreement. It is self-perpetuating.

The unfortunate case of Rockwell, the giant Eli quarterback, has also caused considerable discussion in Cambridge and the fact has developed that his case does not come under the dual agreement with Yale, but that it is a matter wholly within the province of Yale to decide.

The agreement says: "The following rules are to affect all students who enter the universities after the summer of 1903. The eligibility of students now (March, 1903), in the universities shall be determined under the rules now in force."

And the rules in force at that time allowed each college to settle eligibility cases.

In case a dispute arises in the Rockwell matter, Yale would have full authority to decide, and the matter would not be referred to the committee named in the agreement. That committee consists of William A. Melkelham of Columbia; R. D. Wrenn of Harvard, and Otto T. Bannard of Yale.

Braddock High School Badly Beaten.

SCOTTDALE, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The Braddock High school team was defeated by the local High school team this afternoon, being outplayed at every point, the final score being 33 to 0. Devlins Win Close Game.

MONONGAHELA, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—For the first time in two years the Excelsior A. C. of Monongahela, were scored against today, the winners being the Devlin A. C. of Pittsburgh, 5 to 0. The local team was crippled. On the second down, Fullback Zimmerman was laid out with a broken collar bone.

Mrs. Anderson, a prominent society woman of Jacksonville, Fla., daughter of Recorder of Deeds, West, who witnessed her signature to the following letter, praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—There are but few wives and mothers who have not at times endured agonies and such pain as only women know. I wish such women knew the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a remarkable medicine, different in action from any I ever knew and thoroughly reliable.

"I have seen cases where women doctored for years without permanent benefit, who were cured in less than three months after taking your Vegetable Compound, while others who were chronic and incurable came out cured, happy, and in perfect health after a thorough treatment with this medicine. I have never used it myself without gaining great benefit. A few doses restores my strength and appetite, and tones up the entire system. Your medicine has been tried and found true, hence I fully endorse it."—Mrs. R. A. Anderson, 225 Washington St., Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. Reed, 2425 E. Cumberland St., Philadelphia, Pa., says:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel it my duty to write and tell you the good I have received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I have been a great sufferer with female trouble, trying different doctors and medicines with no benefit. Two years ago I went under an operation, and it left me in a very weak condition. I had stomach trouble, backache, headache, palpitation of the heart, and was very nervous; in fact, I ached all over. I find yours is the only medicine that reaches such troubles, and would cheerfully recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all suffering women."

When women are troubled with irregular or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

The experience and testimony of some of the most noted women of America go to prove, beyond a question, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all such trouble at once by removing the cause and restoring the organs to a healthy and normal condition. If in doubt, write Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass, as thousands do. Her advice is free and helpful.

No other medicine for women in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any substitute.

$5000 FORFEIT If we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.
